Council Votes $100,000 for Street Work

Roadways Are Listed For Repair

Refuse Disposal Study Is Asked

Common Council action last night made available $100,000 for start of a street repair program which will proceed this year on the basis of estimates submitted by City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan.

Estimates on three streets were submitted last night at an estimated total cost of $91,000. The round sum was voted, it was indicated, to cover incidental costs pertinent to the opening phase of the repair program. The vote was unanimous with one alderman absent.

To Study Refuse Disposal

Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk, on suggestion of Mayor Frederick H. Stang, named the council finance committee to investigate a new means of refuse disposal.

The mayor, in behalf of the Board of Public Works, also had asked the aldermen to authorize purchase of a "compaction roller" for use in maintenance work, but action on that was delayed pending further study.

Request Cut $50,000

Mayor Stang had asked for $150,000 as the initial sum for street work, but the finance committee felt that the $100,000 would be sufficient until more estimates are submitted by the city engineer.

Approved for start of the program were repair of Pearl street from Green street to Valentine avenue, at an estimated cost of $42,000; Manor avenue from Albany avenue to Kiersted avenue, $29,000, and Hunter street, $20,000.

Old Problem

Mayor Stang, in his letter on refuse disposal, noted that for more than three years, refuse disposal has been a problem for study and he has continued to attempt devising "ways and means of satisfactorily and permanently disposing of our waste material."

In the course of investigations, he noted, "I have been in contact with the Orcoa Co., of Pittsburgh, which has devised a new method of waste disposal, which has been tried out in several communities, and apparently is satisfactory."

The operation, he said, "consists of converting all the waste material into organic fertilizer."

Proposes Trip

Nearest community "having one of these plants," he said, "is McKeesport, Pa.," and he proposed that a Common Council committee and one from the BPW go there to investigate its operation, and determine whether this "is the answer to our disposal problem."

The finance committee was named, but Alderman William K. Bodenweber (D) eighth ward, announced that he would make the trip in place of Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th ward. Others on the committee are Richard V. Roth (R) 12th ward, chairman, and George F. McArdle (R) 13th ward.

Good for Patching

In his letter asking the council to approve purchase of a compaction roller at a cost of $2,940, plus $15 for advertising for bids, the mayor noted that the BPW, after advertising for bids, approved the one suggested. It is a portable hand-paving roller, and would facilitate patching of streets, the letter

Star Brick Dispute Over, Work to Start

It was announced today that 140 employes of the Star Brick Corporation, East Kingston, will return to work Thursday morning, following a contract dispute that lasted almost two weeks.

President Dominic Ausanio of Brickhandlers Local 1467, who is also its business agent, said the dispute over proposed changes in the contract, which expires June 15, was settled this morning.

Longer Memorial Parade Proposed

Poll on $25,000 Fund For Planning Held Up

Absence of an alderman at last night's Common Council session resulted in another delay on the proposal to expend $25,000 for professional city planning.

A city planning program was approved by a 7-6 vote in March, but nine votes are needed to execute the phase which requires hiring professional planners.

Mention Downtown

A longer Memorial Day parade route was proposed by the aldermen after conplaints that residents of the downtown area were not given proper consideration in planning of the parade.

Left for later action, probably at a special meeting as proposed by Mayor Frederick H. Stang, was the new social security law which provides for optional social security coverage for city employes, who now participate in other retirement plans. It also opens the way for coverage for those who have no form of retirement coverage.

Suggests All Vote

It was indicated that the finance committee, composed of aldermen Richard V. Roth (R) 12th ward, chairman, James K. Ryan (D) 10th ward, and George F. McArdle, (R) 13th ward, was prepared to report on the city planning proposal, but William S. Keyser (R) second ward, held that the full council should be present to vote on such an important measure.

Fifth Ward Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R) was absent, and Keyser held that he should be entitled to be on record in council action on planning. The aldermen then voted to table the proposal.

Action was delayed in April

Traffic, Parking Plan Is Stressed For Central City

"Are we preparing for the future" was the topic of a talk given by Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at the 23rd annual banquet of the Central Businessmen's Association at the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, Tuesday night.

He cited several figures which indicated the absolute need to make some drastic plans to facilitate traffic flow on Broadway and provide parking or it will become merely an artery of travel and decline as a shopping area.

In the Urban Area report issued by the New York State Department of Public Works in January of 1954 ,it was pointed out that Broadway was carry-

Free Bus Service Offered

Friday and Saturday have been designated as "Get Acquainted Days" by the retail division of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

This means that a hand of welcome is being extended to residents on the east bank of the Hudson river, according to Clyde E. Wonderly Jr., chairman.

Real Neighbors Now

With the opening of the new Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge residents of both sides of the river have in a very real sense become neighbors, Mr. Wonderly pointed out.

Residents of the east side of the river are being encouraged to come into Kingston, visit the stores, become acquainted with the city and its environs.

Free buses will be operated between Red Hook and Rhinebeck on the other side of the river and Kingston. These buses will run Friday and Saturday, including Friday night. They form at the Red Hook Hotel and at Beekman Arms, Rhinebeck.

Many Bargains Ready

Mr. Wonderly said there would be many good items in local stores offered at bargain prices.

One great advantage in shopping in Kingston, Mr. Wonderly pointed out, is the absence of a sales tax.

Cooperating merchants will show a red and yellow sign in their windows.

The "Get Acquainted Days" are being tied in with Mother's Day this Sunday and the official ceremonies marking the opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

Bus Schedule

The Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Co. will make the following runs:

Friday—Leave the Beekman Arms Hotel, Rhinebeck, at 9:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. for Kingston. Leave the Red Hook Hotel, Red Hook, at 9:45 a. m., 2:15 p. m. and 6:15 p. m. for Kingston. Leave Wall street entrance of Old Dutch Church on return trip at 1:15 p. m., 5:15 p. m. and 9:15 p. m.

Saturday — Leave Beekman Arms Hotel at 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. for Kingston. Leave the Red Hook Hotel at 9:15 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. Leave Wall street entrance of Old Dutch Church on return trip at 12:15 p. m. and 5:45 p. m.

Passengers will disembark at the Old Dutch Church when the bus arrives in Kingston.

No Stops En Route

It is reported that the buses will not stop en route to pick up passengers.

Kingston stores will be open according to normal schedule—9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday and 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday.

Newburgh Bridge Plans, Location Given Approval

Approval of location and plans for the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge by the Secretary of the Army and the Chief of Engineers has been received by the New York State Bridge Authority and will be submitted at Thursday's monthly meeting of the Authority in Poughkeepsie, it was announced today.

John S. Stillman, Authority chairman, said the approval, dated April 22, 1957, was required by the Federal General Bridge Act of 1946 and by the New York State Public Authorities Law before construction of the new bridge, which will join Dutchess and Orange counties, can be started.

Applied Last October

The Authority made application for approval to the federal government on Oct. 26, 1956.

The New York District Engineer issued a public notice Dec. 5 calling for "any criticisms or protest regarding the proposed location from the standpoint of navigation."

No Objections

No objections of any kind were received, Mr. Stillman said.

The document of approval was accompanied by copies of the location and clearance diagrams of the bridge and a five-page "findings of fact."

These findings concluded with the statement that "the proposed structure makes reasonable provision for present and prospective navigation. So far as can be foreseen, it will not be an unreasonable obstruction for the navigable capacity of the waterway."

Engineer to Talk

Clarence W. Hanson of Modjeski and Masters, design engineers of the bridge, is expected to attend Thursday's Authority meeting to discuss the preparation of right-of-way appropriation maps and proceeding with the design of the bridge.

Army approval of the proposed span constitutes the last legal step before construction can begin.

The State Department of Public Works determined July 7, 1955 that the crossing of the Hudson river between Newburgh and Beacon was in the public interest.

The Authority concurred with that decision at a meeting Sept. 23, 1955.

Dies in Phone Booth

Albany, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—Max J. Fass, 58, a New York city attorney, died in a phone booth at Albany county court house yesterday after a heart attack.

Fire-Fighters Hospitalized

Seven County Men Hurt As Truck Leaves Road

Seven Ulster county men returning from an all night forest fire-fighting expedition to Orange county were injured Tuesday when a Conservation Department pick-up truck went off the road and overturned on route 52 near Walker Valley.

Those injured were:

Herbert Carl Gray, 22, Kerhonkson, driver of the pick-up, possible skull fracture, abrasions and fractured ribs. Condition fair at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville.

Taken to Albany

Martin Paulsen, 16, Ellenville, transferred from Veterans Memorial Hospital by Loucks ambulance to Albany Hospital for possible head surgery. Condition "satisfactory."

Jacob Gray, 58, Kerhonkson. Contusions and abrasions. Condition fair at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville.

Roy Strouse, 16, Ellenville. Fractured left elbow. Treated at Veterans Memorial Hospital and released.

Lewis E. Avery, 15, Ellenville. Contusions and abrasions. Treated at hospital and released.

Grover Quick Jr., 17, Ellenville. Contusions and abrasions and possible fractured skull. Condition fair at Veterans Memorial Hospital today.

Five in Rear

Virgil Quick, 23, Accord. Contusions and abrasions. Condition good at hospital.

Herbert Carl Gray and Jacob Gray were riding in the cab of the pick-up, the other five men were riding in the rear of the truck.

State police at Ellenville reported the truck, operated by Herbert Carl Gray, was returning to Ellenville with the men after fighting a forest fire near Washingtonville in Orange county during the night. About 9:30 on a slight curve near Walker Valley the truck went out of control and overturned in the east bound lane.

Paulsen was first admitted to the Ellenville Hospital and treated but his condition appeared to need head surgery and he was later transferred to Albany Hospital.

One of 30 Blazes

The fire in Orange county which the men had been fighting was one of 30 reported in the state Monday. The State Conservation Department reported a total of 607 acres burned over in the numerous fires.

At present the woods are in a most critical condition, no rain of any appreciable amount having fallen since April 27 when a two-tenths of an inch of rain was recorded in Kingston. Forests have been closed by order of Governor Averell Harriman as a protective measure.

Flatbush School Budget Approved For $31,283.30

Taxpayers of School District No. 6, Town of Ulster, unanimously approved a proposed budget of $31,283.30 for the 1957-58 school term at Tuesday's annual meeting at the Emma Wygant School in Flatbush.

Almost Double Amount

The new budget nearly doubles the amount of money raised by tax levy for the 1956-57 calendar year.

The financial report read by Mrs. Joseph Clausi, treasurer-collector, revealed the district would finish the current year with an operating deficit of nearly $4,000. The district, which employs three teachers, was hard hit by the new Heald state aid formula and will receive only $770 of an anticipated $2,415.

Protest Filed

An official protest has been filed with the commissioner of education at Albany and the district is expected to file a petition asking restoration of the original amount it was led to believe it would receive for the 1956-57 year.

The taxpayers also authorized an item of $3,800 for transportation of pupils to Kingston and for an intra-district bus.

Edward Acker was elected to a three-year term as trustee. Mrs. Joseph A. Brewer was re-elected clerk and Mrs. Joseph Clausi was renamed collector-treasurer. Other members of the board of trustees are Charles J. Tiano and Douglas B. Durling.

Mrs. Parker Honored

A rising vote of thanks was given Mrs. Bertha Parker, chairman of the board, who retired after serving for seven years. Gifford R. Beal was named chairman of the meeting. Twenty-three votes were registered.

It was announced that a district meeting with representatives of the Greater Kingston Consolidation committee would be held Wednesday, May 15, at 7:30 p. m. at the Emma Wygant school.

12th Ward Only Area In Favor

Strong Opposition Shown Downtown

A proposed bond issue of $2,667,500 for construction of a junior high school in the Dietz Stadium area was defeated yesterday 3,620 to 1,971—a 2-to-1 majority—with only the 12th ward, proposed site of the building, voting in favor of the school.

A total of 5,591 qualified voters—16,119 were eligible to vote—cast ballots from 12 noon until 9 p. m. in the nine districts of the city which were established for the voting.

Loses Heavily Downtown

The proposition received its greatest opposition in District 4 (fourth and fifth wards) where the vote was 573 to 108 against the new school.

District 9, the 12th ward, voted 584 to 542 in favor of the school, the only district which did not defeat the proposition.

The proposal was the subject of considerable controversy with the board of education making a concerted effort for passage while the Kingston Civic Association opposed it.

Different Views

The board maintained the school was essential to the educational program of the city, that the proposed 1,000-pupil school was required simply for its resident children alone, regardless of the consolidation issue.

The civic association argued that the matter of consolidation should be resolved first.

Board Meets Tonight

The board of education reasoned that if it waited for resolving of the consolidation issue, education in Kingston would be set back several years and that the pupil load would force the board to institute "double sessions."

Plans the board may possibly make in the light of the proposition's defeat were not indicated but an adjourned meeting is scheduled today at 8 p. m.

Robert H. Herzog, president of the board, told The Freeman today he had "no comment."

Earl F. Soper, superintendent of Kingston city schools said, "The people have had the opportunity to express themselves; they have spoken and we will abide by their decision."

Robert B. O'Reilly, finance chairman of the board of education said he was "a little disappointed, but otherwise I have no comment."

Still Have Problem

W. L. "Dick" Rider, vice president and a director of the Kingston Civic Association, said defeat of the proposition did not solve the problem but merely postponed it.

"The outlying districts sending non-resident children to the

Onteora Petition Calls For Meeting on Schools

A group of citizens of the Onteora Central School District has petitioned the Commissioner of Education to call a special meeting in the district at which will be submitted the proposition of whether they approve the commissioners order for annexing Woodstock, Hurley and Zena schools to the Onteora district.

The petition, which was filed with the commissioner of education Monday, was signed by 234 residents, mostly from Olive and Shandaken townships, it was stated.

Petitioners, relying on Section 1802 of the Education Law, ask for the special election to give the voters of the Onteora Central District an opportunity to determine whether or not that district is willing to accept into the district the Woodstock and Hurley schools which have signified by a vote a desire to annex with Onteora.

Under the law the commissioner of education, on request by petition, makes an order of annexation. Districts in the area to be annexed may, if they so desire, hold an election to determine whether or not they desire to be taken into the annexation.

The petition filed Monday in Albany seeks to give the voters of the Onteora Central district an opportunity to determine whether or not they desire to accept the outlying districts into the system. Counsel for the petitioners proceed under the theory that the education law gives them that right.

Onteora district voters claim they had until June 30, when the order of annexation made by the commissioner of education would become final, to call for a special election meeting and submit the proposition of acceptance to the people of the district.

If the petition filed Monday is determined to be in order, a special election will be called within the next 30 days at a place and time to be determined by the commissioner of education.

Pass $71,987 Tillson School Budget; Two Trustees Named

Taxpayers of Rosendale School District 2, at Tillson, approved a $71,987.50 budget for the 1957-58 school year by a 71 to 14 vote Tuesday night during the annual meeting. About 100 taxpayers were present for the meeting.

George A. Ryerson was elected trustee for a three-year term and Robert Morrow was elected to fill the unexpired term of Willard Hutchins who resigned. Mr. Hutchins will leave the area soon for Kentucky where he has been transferred by IBM.

Howard Mansfield was permanent chairman of the meeting, and W. K. Wakeley, chairman of the board of education, was the official spokesman for the board.

Mr. Wakeley, in presenting the report of the board, said that they had inviestigated building costs as recommended to them at a previous taxpayers meeting, and found it would cost about $100,000 to $110,000 for a 4-room addition, and approximately $133,000 for a 6-room addition, plus architect's fees, site development, changes in sewage system, and attachment to present building. The architect's fees alone would be six percent of the total cost of building. Whether or not the district will build will be determined at a later meeting, and no action could be taken on this subject at the annual meeting.

He also mentioned that in the

Dance, Ballerina

The dancer whirling across the stage certainly proves that the feet can be faster than the eye. But did you know that science has also learned from her basic facts about the human eye?

Doesn't the spinning ballerina get dizzy? Analyzing her movements in a pirouette, scientists noted that she focuses or "spots" on a distant object before starting to turn. With each turn, she twists her body as far as possible, keeping her eyes focussed on the object. Then she snaps her head around to refocus on her point of reference. So she can spin round and round and never lose her balance.

For a more careful scientific observation, the scientists put her in a rotating chair equipped with all kinds of gadgets to test responses during and immediately after rotation. When the ballerina was told to "spot" she had hardly any reaction. But when she did not, her eyes jerked haphazardly while the chair spun, and when it stopped she was dizzy.

The same test was given other people—some who were blind and some with only partial defects of vision. The result of all this whirling has been a reliable clinical tests by which a doctor can distinguish between psychic and organic blindness.

Ballerinas, rats, mice, guinea pigs, monkeys, penitentiary prisoners, rabbits, fruit flies—they all have made their contribution to science. New discoveries in medicine can't be used to help you and me until they've proved harmless on different kinds of animals and finally on human volunteers. The next time the doctor gives you a diagnostic test, or a shot of vaccine, or a prescription for an antibiotic, give a grateful thought to the thousands of animals and self-sacrificing human beings who have helped to make these miracles of medicine possible.

Says Costly Blast Deliberately Set

Dayton, Ohio, May 7 (AP)—An explosion and fire that caused an estimated $35,000 to $40,000 in damages at the United Fireworks Co., just west of here last night, was "deliberately caused by dynamite," the president of the company said today.

Walter Bleacher said an inspection showed 8 to 10 sticks of dynamite had been placed on the outside of a building that exploded.

The two explosions sent a wild, brilliant display of fireworks soaring 500 feet into the sky and leveled two storage sheds.

A fireman who suffered a minor leg injury was the only casualty.

Bleacher said his investigation showed a hole three feet deep in the ground outside one building and added that the blast blew the cement block base of the building away. He said a center row cement block also was blown away.

Bleacher said dynamite explodes downward and out. He said he was calling in a demolition expert to confirm his analysis.

Land of Plenty

Detroit (AP)—Mrs. Anastasiya Filimonova, 63, didn't realize there was so much of everything in the United States when she left Moscow for Detroit. So when her plane stopped at Copenhagen for fuel, she bought five oranges to bring as a gift to her daughter, Mrs. Alexandra Novitbsky. Mrs. Novitzsky accepted the gift graciously, but later took her mother to a Detroit supermarket. "I come with five oranges," the mother exclaimed, "and here they have mountains of them!"

GET ACQUAINTED DAYS

The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge will be dedicated Saturday and in connection with this history-making event Kingston merchants are sponsoring "Get Acquainted Days," which will be held Friday and Saturday of this week.

Since the opening of the bridge across the Hudson River, there has been increased activity between the Northern Dutchess area and Kingston and the immediate vicinity. The easy access now between these areas has brought a closer relationship between the people on the east and the people on the west banks of the Hudson. These two special sales days in observance of the bridge dedication is an expression of appreciation for the warm and friendly feeling that exists between these people. The merchants at the same time are showing their eagerness to serve their neighbor.

Free bus service on both days will be afforded those who do not care to operate their automobiles. The schedule appears elsewhere in today's Freeman.

Kingston merchants also are distributing one thousand copies of this issue of The Freeman in the northern Dutchess County area in order to acquaint the people there with this shopping opportunity.

On this occasion, as is their custom on special sales events, Kingston merchants are offering quality merchandise at reduced prices. There are a multitude of fine offerings being offered in Kingston's attractive stores.

The efforts of Kingston merchants are appreciated by shoppers from a wide area and they now extend to the people on the east bank of the Hudson an opportunity also to save time and money by shopping in Kingston.

NOTHING TO WEAR

In the United States, the male of the species has traditionally been free to wear pretty much the same sort of clothes from year to year without becoming a social outcast. Although this freedom is not one of those guaranteed by the Constitution, it has become an accepted part of what is known as the American Way of Life.

The designers of men's clothing have struggled against this tradition. From time to time they have come up with such exotic numbers as cherry-red tuxedos and other innovations that it gives us pain even to mention. But the male has successfully resisted. He has clung doggedly to his right to wear the slacks and sports shirts and windbreakers of the year before last without being tagged as an eccentric.

This year the designers and clothing manufacturers are trying a new tack. They are seeking to infiltrate the male world with the subversive idea that men, like women, shall not brave the public gaze without a new spring or fall outfit as the season demands.

If this idea gets across, it will be great for the clothing industry. As for us, we hope the time will never come when Father will stare at a closet full of suits and wail: "But I can't go; I don't have a thing to wear!"

'PROPER' SPEED

Illinois traffic rules now permit automobile travel on the open road at any "reasonable and proper" speed. In a public opinion poll throughout the state 82 per cent voted for an absolute speed limit, with 65 miles an hour favored for daytime and 55 for night.

Whether this would result in fewer accidents will be determined if pending safety legislation is adopted. At least the change would eliminate a lot of arguments over what motoring velocity is "reasonable and proper."

The producers of the television version of "Cinderella" spent several hundred thousand dollars to bring the fairy tale to viewers. Yet many thought there was much less magic evident than the first time they heard their mothers tell the tale.

AVOID OR EVADE

I have a letter from C. E. Spenser, President of The Casement Hardware Co. and the Win-Dor Corporation of Puerto Rico, who instructs me learnedly on the difference between avoid and evade. As every taxpayer would like to know the difference between avoid and evade, I can only hope that Spencer's definitions will be accepted by the Income Tax Collectors and by the judge. Spencer writes:

"Your worst 'goof' is where you twice refer to tax evaders. Certainly with your command of language you should know the difference between 'avoid' and 'evade.' Ever since the Boston Tea Party it has been considered the duty of patriotic Americans to avoid taxes which is legal, but evasion is illegal and a criminal act. (I notice further the extent of your confusion where you say 'Then the tax evader finds a legal and comfortable way to evade some taxes, throwing the burden on other citizens'). There is no legal way to evade taxes."

The answer to that is: "Tell it to the judge!"

We who have to pay our full share of taxes cannot work a gimmick that will help us to turn evade into avoid. Those whose tax is collected by the withholding method cannot avoid taxes or evade taxes. They just have to pay and pay and hope that they overpay and do not underpay.

The economic interpretation of the Boston Tea Party, which in this letter is given a moralistic overtone, does give one the hope that some day some Americans may dunk the tax collectors in their neighborhood ponds. As it stands now, if you don't pay, you are charged six per cent, and eventually a lien is put on your household furnishings and in due course, you might go to jail for evading or avoiding a tax payment.

I doubt whether the Courts would make a fine distinction between evading the tax or avoiding it, although many tax havens are now being organized to permit Americans to evade the income tax by avoiding it which is why some Americans keep their money in Switzerland or Venezuela or Uruguay (Montevideo). Puerto Rico is a tax haven for American businesses and if not too many have taken advantage of it, it is only because they do not recognize its possibilities. There are also many possibilities for the tax-avoider in Canada, but this works out better for the corporation than for the individual.

The rule that is to be applied is the law of diminishing returns which is immutable. When taxes become oppressive, the human mind conceives means for avoiding or evading the tax. If the tax becomes too oppressive and the avoidances or evasions become too numerous, the income from the tax grows increasingly less. This is beginning to make itself manifest in Michigan, General Motors establishing plants in other states where the tax rates are not so ferocious. Some of the automobile plants are actually being established outside the United States where not only are taxes more rational but labor costs less. Spencer writes me:

"It may be gilding the lily to mention that you are griping about wages and tax exempt advantages in Puerto Rico. It may be a very tonic thing to consider the oppressive and destructive burden of stateside taxes. If there (they) were brought down to some reasonable basis there would be little point for American money and enterprise going anywhere. . . ."

This is quite true. Enterprise flows to where it is advantageous to be. The huge American industrial base was established largely by run-away capital and run-away workers from European countries. In this exodus of men, money and machines, first Great Britain and then Germany played tremendous roles, and what they lost was America's gain.

Since the United States has gone in for the universal welfare state, our cost of operations has become enormous, not only for the Federal Government which is now required to adopt the elephantine Eisenhower Budget, but for state and municipal governments as well. Meanwhile, the Eisenhower Administration is pouring billions into Europe, Africa and Asia, some of which undoubtedly comes back here as risk capital in amounts that are dangerously large.

Money moves to the place where profits are good and safety is assured. If it moves from the United States to Puerto Rico or Canada or anywhere, it means that there one can make a profit and the money is safe.

That Body of Yours

HOW WELL DO WE LOOK AFTER OUR MENTALLY ILL?

We are all aware of the increasing problem of mental illness whose victims fill more hospital beds than all other diseases combined. Granted that new drugs and new technics are increasing the chances of patients recovering and being allowed to return to a normal life, it is still a fact that one in every ten may expect to be in a mental institution at one or another period in their lives. Once there, how do they fare?

In mental hospitals where patients get the best treatment, as many as 70 per cent improve or recover, against only 45 per cent in the average present-day hospital. Few patients with mental or emotional disorders can get the thorough, intensive treatment they need if they are to have the best chance for recovery. The entire psychiatric field—not only hospitals but clinics, research programs and private practice—is plagued by a lack of trained personnel.

State mental hospitals, which house nearly 90 per cent of patients with severe mental disorders, need twice as many doctors, five times as many graduate nurses and four times as many social workers as they now have. Almost 72,000 beds are currently unacceptable and at least 350,000 more are needed to relieve overcrowded conditions which increase communicable diseases and even tend to aggravate the mental illness. In many states a person's chances of contracting tuberculosis is multiplied by 25 if he enters a mental hospital. Of 153 mental hospitals that requested inspection by the American Psychiatric Association, 102 failed to meet minimum standards of safety and quality.

Mental health clinics have helped many people with less severe emotional disorders, but there are only 1,200 clinics in the country—most of them in the northeast—and half of these give only part-time service. At least 3,300 full-time clinics are urgently needed.

There are 9,500 psychiatrists in the United States and over 3,000 of them are clustered in New York and California. About 13,000 more are needed but only 400 to 500 a year are joining the ranks. Hospitals, clinics and psychiatrists have long waiting lists, which delay treatment and cut down on the patient's chances for recovery.

About 60,000 recovered patients remain in mental hospitals today because (1) hospital staffs are inadequate to examine and process them for discharge; (2) their families and communities don't want them; (3) boarding homes and other facilities are not available to help them through the rehabilitation period. Every patient released from a mental hospital represents a saving of $1,000 to $20,000 yet state mental hospitals spend an average of only $3 a day per patient—less than one-seventh of what the nonprofit general hospital spends.

Mental illness costs industry an estimated $12 billion annually in absenteeism and job accidents. It skyrockets the nation's crime toll, put at $20 billion a year. It is believed to be a significant factor in financial burdens incurred through drug addiction, alcoholism, suicide, broken homes and manpower losses in the services.

"And He Was So Delicate at Birth, Too"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Central Intelligence Agency is 10 years old this fall. The past year has been the busiest of its short career, due to the crises in Poland, Hungary and the Middle East.

Some harsh things have been said about CIA in this period. There have been congressional criticisms on estimates of Soviet bomber strength. President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and their top aides have been reported without advance reports on the British, French and Israeli plan to attack Egypt.

CIA Director Allen W. Dulles is in the position of not being able to answer attacks on intelligence failures.

But the observation can be made that even when intelligence estimates are available, the information in them may not be passed on or impressed on officials most vitally concerned.

THIS HAS BEEN the great failing of U. S. intelligence work all along. Accurate intelligence estimates were made before the Japs struck Pearl Harbor. The information just wasn't properly evaluated and passed on to the right people.

Similarly, U. S. intelligence fell down when the Chinese Communists struck south across the Yalu River in 1950. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, who took over as fourth head of CIA in October of that year, ordered a complete overhaul of the agency.

He was tough and ruthless about it. He cleaned out many of the extra hands hired in a hurry at the start of the war. The rich boys and girls who played at intelligence — the Georgetown cocktail set — were let go. Tighter security was imposed.

Then General Smith asked Allen Dulles, who had headed a three-man commission to study reorganization of CIA, to come in for a few weeks and put his recommendations into effect.

DULLES HAS BEEN at CIA ever since. He became General Smith's deputy, then his successor in 1953.

In the past four years, CIA has changed quite a lot. Its budget, the number of its employes and their operations still remain secret.

But it has built up a career service of intelligence experts—something the United States has never had before. Today CIA has literally hundreds of intelligence officers to cover the vast Soviet effort in the cold war.

College graduating classes are now systematically combed each June for honor students in languages, economics and science. But of every 1,000 applicants for career jobs, only 90 pass the severe tests and training requirements.

The pay is $3,000 for beginners up to $14,000 for 35 top analysts. Director Dulles gets $21,000. It isn't the pay that holds the "best educated working force in Washington" together.

IT'S THE INTEREST in the work. Dulles sets the pace by practically living his job, seven days and nights a week. He wouldn't do anything else if he could.

He has worked out a good relationship with Congress. The drive for a congressional watchdog committee for CIA was killed last year. Dulles now clears his budget with the seven senior members of congressional appropriations committees. On top secret items, the congressmen say, "Don't tell us."

CIA after a struggle got 46 million dollars for its new headquarters in Langley, Va., a few miles up the Potomac from Washington. This will replace the 38 buildings CIA now occupies—11 of them World 1 and 2 temporaries.

So gradually, CIA is becoming an established service. Its members now say that it is better than British intelligence, which used to be considered tops. CIA is also said to be as good as the Russians.

The largest of 53 bells in the carillon of the Parliament buildings at Ottawa, Canada, weighs 22,400 pounds.

Congress provided a half billion dollars for relief in the U. S. drouth of 1934.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

May 8, 1937—Early discovery of a fire by WPA workmen saved the house of Mrs. A. V. DeGraff at 168 Washington avenue from serious damage.

Apple, cherry, peach and pear blossoms were in bloom throughout the county.

Peter Keresman, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association, announced that Edward P. Mulrooney, state commissioner of correction, would be guest speaker at a dinner of the KPA and Kiwanis Club June 3.

May 8, 1947 — Creek Locks residents voted 70 to 19 to keep the local school open.

Local employes of the long lines division of the telephone company awaited word from New York as to the official status of a walkout which was in progress.

The Ulster County District Council of Carpenters was formed at a meeting of union locals in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The Workmen's Circle, Branch 125, of Kingston, planned to observe its 40th anniversary May 18 at Svirsky's in Ulster Park.

Samuel Lee (1783-1852) celebrated English Orientalist was a 17-year-old carpenter's apprentice when he discovered his aptitude for ancient languages. He mastered successively: Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Chaldean, Syriac, Samaritan, Malay, Coptic, Maori, Ethiopian, Persian, Hindi and six others (a total of 18) by the simple process of buying a grammar and committing it to memory from cover to cover. He could not even keep the grammars he memorized, but had to sell them to obtain the price of the next one, as his weekly earnings were only about 12 cents. He became a brilliant scholar, professor of Arabic and Hebrew at Cambridge University.

Eisenhower Called Victim Of Political Sniping Drive

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 7 — There seems to be a strange mood of irritation developing in the country. The gripes are many—high taxes, high spending, rising costs, profit squeezes in business, "tight money," and a variety of collateral grievances.

Many of the critics are trying to make President Eisenhower the scapegoat. Adverse comment is heard not merely from Democrats but also from Republicans, who are murmuring that Ike has gone back on his campaign pledges to reduce taxes and Federal spending, or that he is away from the White House too much or isn't giving earnest attention to the job.

Several of these points were first emphasized in statements from Democratic party headquarters here. They were inspired in large part by leaders in a Congress controlled by the Democratic party, which feels a daily impulse to generate publicity that is critical of the Administration, on the theory that this is good political strategy between campaigns. Some Republicans mistakenly assume the wave of criticism is a tide and, instead of battling it, they swim with its political currents.

Sniping Having Effect

The sniping by all concerned is having its effect and many citizens are now beginning to blame all their ills on the President.

Yet only six months have gone by since the election in which the same man—Dwight Eisenhower—won such an overwhelming victory at the polls.

What's happened since?

Certainly the two major issues in the last campaign have not by any means become politically less important. The nation is at peace and is prosperous. There is no unemployment crisis. Profits in business overall are in some categories not as big as before, but they are still profits—not losses.

Just six months ago everybody was worried about a war in the Middle East. Britain and France had actually started a fight against Egypt. Little wars—as experience showed in Korea—can turn into big wars. There was a basis for real apprehension last autumn. President Eisenhower stood firm. At the risk of offending our allies, the United States took a different position from them and did prevent a big war from breaking out—in fact, took a hand in making peace by securing the early withdrawal of the British, French and Israel troops from Egypt.

War Clouds Broken Up

This has not necessarily brought a settlement of all the vexatious problems of the Middle East, but certainly it has resulted in a breaking up of the war clouds. Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq, Iran and Israel are all on our side, and India isn't hostile. The Eisenhower doctrine has surely made progress. The Suez Canal is open and oil shipments are flowing to Europe again.

Does all this mean much to the average citizen in America? What would be happening today if war had come last autumn? Would the "spending" be less now? Would not the federal budget have skyrocketed by this time?

Also, what about the young men now in school or in their peacetime jobs? Wouldn't most of them be talking to draft boards about the day for their call to uniform? How would the parents who are complaining today compare their present discontent with the emotions they would have felt at seeing their sons going off to war, many of them leaving wives and children behind? Would we be talking more of atom-bomb shelters than of taxes in this month of May, 1957?

These questions answer themselves, as the American people do not want to get into any war except in case of absolute necessity. They expect the President of the United States to do everything he can to keep them out of every war.

But apparently the efforts of Mr. Eisenhower have not won him the appreciation they deserve, either here or abroad. In London the press still bristles at the mention of everything American. That's because Britain's pride was hurt when her government was, in effect, reprimanded by America last autumn. Refusal, on the other hand, of the United States to go along in that same military adventure saved England from economic collapse.

Democrats Stand Cited

The Democratic party leaders here in some pronouncements commend the avoidance of war but still, in other statements, make constant reference to the "deterioration" of our alliance with Britain and France. They imply that the United States should not have interfered with the policies of our allies and let them go ahead with the war in the Middle East. There are still people in Britain and France also who think that, if the Suez war had been prolonged, Nasser would have been driven from power and all would have been well in the world. They ignore what the Soviets would have done in the circumstances, and how natural it would have been for the whole Arab world to have lined up with the Communists for a long time to come.

Peace is an unspectacular result, so the effort that goes into achieving it is readily forgotten. The economic pressures for more and more profits and for more and more income and for higher and higher wages are persistent and seem to overshadow all else nowadays. The battle of inflation goes on and, as has often been said, "there is enough in the world for everybody's need, but not enough for everybody's greed."

One wonders sometimes why anyone would want to be President of the United States in an age in which so many people disregard the basic facts of life and, petulantly giving vent to their materialism, fail—even in an atomic era—to count the blessings of peace.

Labor at the Crossroads:

Will Pension, Welfare Funds Stand Up Under Many Abuses?

Editor's Note: What of the money workers have put into labor's pensions and welfare funds? Will it assure their old age? Or are some of the charges of mismanagement justified? This third of five articles on labor and management now and in the future discusses dollars in the billions).

By RELMAN MORIN

Washington, May 8 (AP)—"Shocking abuses . . . collusion . . . mismanagement . . . lack of know-how . . . waste . . . extravagance . . . indifference . . . serious loss to the employe beneficiaries."

These words bristle like spikes in the pages of a Senate report on one of the most important, and now highly spotlighted, institutions in the whole field of labor and management—the pension and welfare funds.

They were written after a two-year study of the vast and complicated problem.

Immediately, the AFL-CIO held its own investigations, and found that three big unions failed to "meet the standards for ethical union practices set forth in the AFL-CIO constitution." They have been summoned to appear before the executive committee later this month.

The Senate report by no means condemned the handling of welfare funds everywhere. On the contrary, it said:

"Perhaps too little has been said of the many sound practices found in the great majority of these plans and of the conscientious and ingenious efforts on the part of industry, labor, insurance and banking to bring benefits to scores of millions of people at low cost."

But where abuses were uncovered, the committee cited both labor and management. For example:

"The programs are at times used unfairly by labor and management as a lever on the employe—by the union to tie him to union membership. By management to tie him to the job."

Of another part of the picture, it said:

"The insurance industry, which has long prided itself on maintaining high standards on a voluntary basis, has not yet set up a code of ethics to deter wrongdoing among its membership."

Let's take a look at the overall picture—

Since World War 2, pension and welfare funds have grown to an oceansized pool of money. Total contributions to all programs are running around 7 billion dollars a year. Reserves are estimated in the neighborhood of 30 billion.

They provide protection and brighten the future of 75 million people or more—almost half the population of the United States.

The Senate committee called this a "testimony to the free enterprise system."

Over 90 per cent of the benefit plans are company managed. The remainder are shared by the employer and the union. The committee said "it discovered more irregularities in jointly-managed plans...than in unilateral employer plans and perhaps there is a higher incidence of abuse in this type than in the larger numbers of employer-administered plans."

Inexperience, lack of know-how, the absence of supervision, as well as "an unscrupulous minority" cost the programs huge sums of money, the report said. It said:

"It is startling to find an almost complete absence of any routine accounting to the beneficiaries...it appears to be accepted practice among the administrators of such programs to give little or no account of their stewardship, and to treat the money more as their own than that of the beneficiaries."

Investigators pointed to cases where the workers' regular payments to the welfare funds went into the general union fund instead.

Sen. McClellan (D.-Ark.), chairman of another Senate committee which heard testimony from President Dave Beck of the giant Teamsters Union, reports:

"One union fund administrator has admitted that out of nearly a million dollars collected, only one-fifth had been actually used to purchase insurance for the union members. The rest has gone for such welfare expenses as fight tickets, raffle tickets, whisky and lavish entertainment, Christmas gifts, and the construction of a monument to himself."

The other committee turned up other instances.

It questioned Angelo Inciso, president of Local 286, formerly affiliated with the Allied Industrial Workers of America about vouchers totaling some $15,000. They were listed as advances for organizing expenses. Inciso replied:

"Believe me, I am at a loss on that because I do tell the girl to write them down. Now she may have forgotten to write them down, but somewhere there must be some bills where I mark it all down."

Among the items listed in the union records as "organizational expenses" where a "gent's" diamond ring ($1,200), three money clips ($1,080), four pair of cuff links ($460), whisky, billfolds, diamond watches.

Admits He Didn't Ask

Investigators asked Inciso about the ring. Did he have the consent of his dues-paying members to buy it?

"No," he said, "because it would take me so long to get all my dues-paying members together that, before I get it done, it would be out of style."

By comparison to other cases, however, this was small change. For example, the committee listed an "embezzlement of $900,000" in insurance premiums in the Laundry Workers International.

The committee recommended federal laws to bring "full disclosure" of information on all types of benefit plans. President Eisenhower seconds the proposal for "public disclosure of complete data" on them.

The AFL-CIO agrees. Opinion is divided in Congress.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers is strongly opposed. It points out that most of the plans are company-managed. Attacking a bill introduced by Sen. Douglas (D.-Ill.), the NAM says the bill "may lead, ironically, to government control and union domination of company-managed funds—a field in which no single instance of company mismanagement has been found after four years of investigation."

A bitter fight could develop in Congress over the various proposals but some observers believe legislation, in some form, may be written to supervise the funds.

LITTLE TOO LATE—A snafu in his local draft board at Upper Marlboro, Md., proves a puzzler for M/Sgt. Frank A. Vanderboegh as he reads a letter directing him to report for a physical examination. Vanderboegh, a 29-year veteran, now stationed in Washington, D.C., with Headquarters Command USAF, Bolling Air Force Base, is thinking more about retiring than enlisting.

TERRIBLE BLOW—Tommy Krueger, 18, of Emporia, Kan., rigged up this musical melting pot "just for fun." But the laughs ended when he found it was in the wrong key for his high school band. Tommy "blended" parts of a trombone, mellophone and trumpet for this "whatsit."

Gumball Project Helps Kiwanis Welfare Funds

The Kingston Kiwanis Club gumball project managed by Herbert H. Reuner, local monument dealer, has been paying off for the local organization's welfare funds.

The success of this project which has been in existence for several years, was pointed out by Mr. Reuner who listed nine different welfare projects that have been helped through the sale of the penny gumballs from the vending machines in local stores and offices.

Kiwanis projects partially supported by the gumball machines are: Kingston Boys Club, Community Chest, Kiwanis Key Club, Fraternal Youth League, Halloween Party at YMCA, Doll Project of the Salvation Army Cerebral Palsy Clinic, Wheelchair Project, and Eyeglasses for underprivileged children.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

A QUICK LOOK AT OUR "GIVEAWAYS"

"Some shipments," asserted Mr. Benson, "will continue during the fiscal years, 1958 and '59."

In July and August, 1956, shipments abroad aggregated 725,000 metric tons, and kept busy a fleet of transocean steamers. Shipments consisted of: wheat, 13 million bushels; wheat flour, 44.9 million pounds; corn, 3.5 million bushels; barley, 3.3 million bushels; rice, 2.1 million hundredweight. Continuing: cottonseed oil, soybean oil, lard, cotton, tobacco, cheese, linseed oil, beef, dry beans, canned fruit and juices; all in two months.

MR. HUTTON

Beginning January, '55 through August, 1956, more than seven times as much was shipped—totaling about 4,228,000 metric tons.

Seventy-four nations are receiving free victuals today from America!!

In 1956, Congress authorized the "giveaway"—not a dime in return.

Harold Stassen, Head of Foreign Operations Administration, in 1955, announced as gifts 3 million $'s worth of fruit cocktail and canned pears to the British, plus 6 million $'s worth of fresh oranges, lemons and grapefruit. Shortly before, Stassen gave Britain 250,000 $'s worth of cooked chicken—all for free, cooked too,—charged to us, taxpayers—also cooked!

And thus we buy friends; or don't we? For all this stuff undersells farmers and producers abroad in the same market.

Do they like it? Would you, neighbor?

Tank Job

Stuart, Okla. (AP)—Carl Frazier, who operates a filling station here, would like to know the name of his honest, impatient customer. The motorist, apparently low on gas, broke the glass door at his filling station one night, unlocked the gas pump, filled his gas tank, locked the pump and returned the key. The next day Frazier received a letter postmarked from a nearby town but without a name. Enclosed was $11 in cash and itemized statement: "Winder $4.50; Lock $2.00; Gas, 15 gallons, $4.50."

It Seemed Big

Durham, N. C., (AP)—A 14-year-old boy entered the newsroom of the Durham Morning Herald and asked to see the newspaper files of World War 2. "I've read about it in history books and I want to see how the newspapers wrote it," the lad explained. A reporter showed him the files and said, "Let me know what you think of it. An hour later the boy came out of the library, regarded the reporter accusingly and said, "I think you exaggerated it."

Probe Steel Local

Harrisburg, Pa., May 8 (AP)—A preliminary investigation into a nearby Steelton, Pa., local of the United Steel Workers was begun today by an assistant counsel to the Senate Rackets Committee. Thomas G. Egan, the counsel, said he expected to talk with officers and members of the local, No. 1688, and complete his investigation by tonight. He said a fuller investigation "will be up to Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy." Members of a faction in the local, whose 4,800 members are employed at the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant, sought the probe after the local was placed under an administrator in January by District 11 of the international union.

LIGHT UP—The signs don't but the Marines wearing them do in a smoke break at Kaneohe, Hawaii. The Marine in center walks in advance of the column to warn vehicles of approaching troops. The other Leathernecks are rear guards who trail the detachment in traffic areas.

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE—Though he's shown creating a smoke screen of his own, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) is busy clearing the atmosphere these days in Washington, D. C. His job as chairman of the Senate Labor Rackets Investigating Committee is to dispel the smoke screen of mystery surrounding various alleged union-rackets connections.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 7 (AP)—The stock market was slightly higher early this afternoon with aircrafts and rails showing strength. A few oils also moved ahead.

After opening mostly with gains, some groups ran into mild trouble. Metals weakened and steels slid back for small fractional losses.

Activity was fairly brisk early and then simmered down to a routine pace. It still ran above yesterday's volume.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 30 cents at $181.50 with the industrials up 20 cents, the rails up $1.10 and the utilities down 10 cents.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were higher in fairly active dealings.

Corporate bonds were steady in quiet trading.

U. S. Government Bonds were slightly higher.

Denies Breaking Truce

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, May 8 (AP)—The Organization of American States (OAS) moved today to head off new border trouble as Honduras accused Nicaragua of breaking the three-day-old truce with attacks at two points.

Nicaragua quickly denied the charges. A spokesman for President Luis Somoza declared his government "sticks to its commitments" to the cease-fire the OAS team negotiated last weekend.

OAS officials rushed investigators to the border last night after Honduran Foreign Minister Jorge Fidel Duron protested that Nicaraguan troops had assaulted Cifuentes City. He also claimed the Honduran border town of Las Manos had been subjected to a mortar attack.

To Show Evidence

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Senate rackets investigators said they will confront Teamsters Union President Dave Beck today with evidence alleging that he "used his position for his own personal profit and gain."

Chairman McClellan (D.-Ark.) so described testimony to be given before his special Senate committee which has been looking into Beck's activities as president of the 1½-million member International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

General Nathan F. Twining, Chief of Staff of the U. S. Air Force, began his military career as an infantryman.

Third Class PO Hikes Approved

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The House Postoffice Committee today approved increases in third-class postal rates designed to yield an extra 128 million dollars in revenue after two years.

Third-class mail consists mainly of advertising circulars and small parcels.

In line with recommendations of the Postoffice Department, the committee voted for a two-stage increase in the rates on this type of mail. The plan calls for a rise this year from 2 to 3 cents for the first two ounces of individual piece mailings, and from 1½ to 2 cents in the bulk minimum rate. A further increase of ½ cent would be made effective by July 1, 1959.

The committee is working section-by-section on an administration bill for general postal rate increases.

It will consider tomorrow the question of higher rates for magazines and newspapers.

It already has approved a one-cent increase in first-class (letter) rates from 3 to 4 cents an ounce.

Reds Still Determined

Hong Kong, May 8 (AP)—Red China warned today the stationing of U. S. guided missiles on Formosa will not shake its intention to "liberate" the Nationalist Chinese island.

The United States announced yesterday it had agreed with Chiang Kai-shek's government to station a U. S. Air Force unit on Formosa equipped with matador missiles. Vice Adm. Stuart H. Ingersoll, the U. S. 7th Fleet commander, announced earlier today advance units equipped with matadors already had arrived on Formosa.

Quoting the official Communist party organ, Peiping People's Daily, it said the "Chinese people's determination to liberate Taiwan (Formosa) will never be shaken by the stationing of an American atomic weapons unit on that island."

Towns Still Menaced

Dallas, May 8 (AP)—Floodwaters of the muddy lower Brazos river, already swirling over a 100-square mile area of the coastal plains southwest of Houston, continued today to menace rural areas and towns.

Thousands of acres of rich farmland were flooded, washing out spring crops and adding to the mounting flood and tornado damage inflicted during the past stormy month in Texas. The total damage estimate was set at 85 million dollars yesterday.

P-TA Variety Show Receipts Total $257

Woodstock, May 8—At the regular meeting of Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association May 2, at the Woodstock School Mrs. John Majoros reported a profit of $257.96 from the recent fund raising variety show.

Loryn Connick, chairman of the fund raising project thanked all the people who helped in the effort, particularly George Hard and Houston Richards.

Mrs. John Derry and William Doran are making plans for a bicycle inspection as a follow up to the bicycle safety campaign. Chester Wolven has indicated that the Fire Department will assist the Health and Safety Committee.

Mr. Connick announced an exceptionally fine program for the June 6th meeting. Leonard Stein, director of music at Kingston High School, will bring approximately 40 members of his A Capella choir to sing at Woodstock. These students are members of the group that recently gave concerts in the south. Friends of P-TA will be welcome to attend. There will be no charge. The business meeting will be very brief.

James Kinns, chairman of the hospitality committee reported that his committee will plan either a dinner or dance for the eighth graduating class. The choice will be up to the graduates.

Refreshments after the meeting were provided by 7th grade mothers: Mrs. Hans Cohn, Mrs. Edward Gurland and Mrs. Sidney Greenberg.

Leon Carey, president, introduced a panel whose topic was "Recreation in Our Area." Walter Van Wagenen, chairman of the recreation committee, gave a brief history of how the committee and the recreation field were started. He recalled the early days when many fathers, including William West, Kenneth Wilson, Warren Hutty and himself, put a lot of hard labor to get the field in shape. In 1952 Anthony DeLisio donated the swimming pool in memory of his wife.

He praised the Public Health Nursing Committee which operated an arts and crafts program until 1955, and raised the funds for the sanitary buildings located near the pool.

The program is presently financed by $500 from the Town Board, $500 from the School District. This sum is matched by $1,000 from the State Youth Commission. The rest of the budget is met by private donations. Last year the budget was $3,062. John Majoros, who will direct the Recreation Field for the second year, outlined the program for the summer. The field will open officially July 1.

William Doran, Scoutmaster, said that his Boy Scouts are working toward an outdoor program which he hopes will include four or five overnight hikes. Equipment is being purchased. The Scouts meet Tuesday nights.

Mrs. Gordon Anderson, vice-president of the Ulster County Girl Scout Council, outlined the purpose of Girl Scouting and reported that Camp Wendy will open June 30. Prior to that there is a need for help at camp from fathers who can do minor carpentry. There are also openings for leaders for the 98 Girl Scouts in Woodstock, so that no girl will have to be placed on a waiting list, she said.

Maurice Hamilton, president of the newly formed Little League, said the aim of his group was to give every boy between the ages of 8 and 12 in the township a chance to play baseball. Evidence of the need for the program was shown by the report that 70 boys and 15 adult helpers were at the Recreation Field the night of the meeting, playing ball.

Play will start May 30 with a double-header game. Playoffs will be finished August 1.

Traffic, Parking

ing its maximum capacity of traffic in 1953. Since then, Kurdt pointed out, motor vehicle registrations in Ulster county have increased more than 25 per cent. "With the completion of the arterial route and the possibility in the future of having a four-lane bridge over the Rondout creek, thousands of additional cars will want to use Broadway and it is not designed and regulated to handle the present traffic.

1,250 Cars an Hour

He noted that most days over 15,000 motor vehicles use Broadway in a 12-hour period. This means an average of 1,250 cars an hour, already about 300 more than should be the maximum number using any street in a shopping area.

"The answer is some satisfactory alternate means for cars and trucks to travel between the easterly and westerly ends of Kingston," Kurdt said.

It was also pointed out that Kingston's city population increased as much in the past seven years as it had in the previous thirty. Kingston's population increased about 7.5 percent in seven years and the surrounding area townships increased an average of 36 percent.

Vital to Business

"How we handle our traffic and parking will determine where people live, where they work and where they will go to obtain goods and services," Kurdt said. He added, "store location and successful operation depend almost entirely on the convenience of getting to it in a car and having a place to leave the car when they get there."

He pointed out other factors in the expansion of the area and said that the growth and expansion can be continued and promoted further by working diligently with all elected officials to help maintain a favorable climate in which business and industry can operate at a profit and have the kind of a city in which people choose to live.

Saccoman Speaks

President Anthony G. Saccoman praised the association members for their cooperation during the past year, and urged that they maintain their progressive spirit for the good of the central shopping area, and the community in general.

He stressed that the organization is strongly opposed to any sales tax for the city alone. "If it has to come," he said, "it should be on a county level."

"We should always take firm stands in what we think is good in government," he said, pointing out that the association went on record against 10-cent parking, pressed for Route 209 bypass, favored city planning and is on record for removal of the Washington avenue viaduct.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang commended the association for its interest in the community, its business and other accomplishments, and urged that the members continue their solidarity as a group.

NOT BLUE: Kentucky blue grass is so named because it does not appear green like ordinary grass. However, if examined closely, it will be seen it really is green. The blue is probably caused by a strata of blue limestone.

Poll on . . .

when no report came from the finance committee on the $25,000 bond issue phase of the proposed program.

It was indicated last night that a majority report to the council on planning would have been one without recommendation while a minority report by Alderman Ryan would have suggested that the city enter into a contract for the hiring of a firm of professional planning.

Keyser's move to table the measure until a full council was present was seconded by Edwin Radel (D) third ward.

Press for Longer Parade

Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) seventh ward, said he would not participate in the Memorial Day parade because a proposal to extend the parade route to at least Delaware avenue on Broadway was not considered.

Aldermen Arthur Smith (D) eighth ward, George P. Norton Jr., (R) sixth ward, and Frank Zakseski (D) fourth ward joined him in the sentiment, and William K. Bodenweber (D) ninth ward, noting that so many aldermen were opposed to the parade route as proposed, felt that the council should go on record for the change as suggested.

Alderman Richard V. Roth (R) 12th ward felt that since the council appropriates the money for the parade ($2,000 this year) that it should have something to say about it. Ryan felt that alternating arrangements year after year, might satisfy all areas of the city. Alderman Hirschell Mayes (R) first ward felt that the downtown residents should be given consideration.

The parade route generally has been between Academy Green Park and the city hall or high school, and several of the aldermen felt that it was inconvenient for persons and families without cars to get to the parade area from downtown sections. Alderman Smith indicated that he had a personal problem with "one car and 13 grandchildren."

Won't March

Aldermen opposed to the parade route, as now planned, indicated that they would not parade unless it was changed for the convenience of downtown residents. Alderman Keyser said he hoped that in the event the proposed change was not made that none of the aldermen would be absent because of the memorial significence of the day.

Zakseski said his stand on the subject was motivated by sentiment among the people he represents, and Sass Smith, and the others also indicated they were holding out only for a point of fairness.

Explains Social Security

Mayor Stang in his letter on the social security proposal noted that a new measure "amends the Retirement and Social Security Law," and provided coverage for all members of the New York State Employes' Retirement System, if they desire it.

It also provides coverage "for all public employes, who are eligible for membership, and who do not become members before completion of a new agreement between the state and the Federal Social Security Administration."

The legislative body of each political subdivision of the state is required to designate the effective date of social security coverage, and the date will apply to all eligible employes.

It also provides that the legislative body may select a retroactive period of six calendar quarters, four calendar quarters, or none. This establishes three possible effective dates of coverage.

Cannot Reject

"I might say in passing," the mayor said, "that the legislative body is not authorized to reject social security entirely, but may decide the effective date of coverage."

A decision must be made before May 31, he said, and he suggested that the council's finance committee, "study the situation, ascertain the costs involved, the number of employes to be covered thereby," and report at a meeting of the council "around the middle of the month."

Meeting Thursday

The mayor proposed that the finance committee attend a meeting here May 9 at which the social security measure will be discussed in detail.

Leon Studt, president of Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, told a reporter last night that it is expected that about 150 city employes will be involved. They are largely employes of the city laboratory, public works department, and city hall.

About 23 city employes, he said, have no form of retirement-plan coverage, but under the new measure they will be automatically covered by social security.

It is expected that the majority of those who are now covered by other retirement plans will seek social security coverage on the optional basis provided by the law.

Would Be Retroactive

Approval of the phase of the law providing for retroactive coverage will be up to the Common Council. If approved, it is expected that many of the city's older employes would gain retroactive social security coverage.

A letter from Chester VanDemark, of First avenue, asking the end of rent control, was referred to the laws and rules committee.

Mr. VanDemark held that rent control had served its purpose, that most cities of the Hudson Valley were now off control, that landlords had been subjected to it for a long time, and it is no longer effective in the county. He said he felt that if the council voted rent control out of existence it would mean no hardship.

Special assessments were approved for paving of Dietz court and Melvin drive, at a total cost of $26,780.75; Jervis avenue between Andrew and Ohio streets, sanitary sewer, at $4,644.21, and Florence street, paving, sewer and other work between Stephan and Abbey streets, at $15,000.

One-Way Streets

A traffic committee report adopted makes Cordts street one-way south from Willow street to Delaware avenue, and Chambers street one-way south from Stuyvesant street to Newkirk avenue.

It provides for "no parking" on sections of 15 other streets, provides for eight new loading zones, and a stop-sign at Savoy street and Roosevelt avenue. Sections of four other streets will have one-hour parking.

Extension of the franchise of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., for 15 years, and official authorization for travel of the company's buses over the uptown one-way street system were sought, and each bid was referred to the railroad and bus committee.

Minor Claims

Seven minor claims were filed and referred to the corporation counsel. One of the larger ones was for $210.30 for damage claimed by Mrs. Christine Kline, Lucas avenue extension, for damage to a car which was struck April 14 by the city street sweeper. Another mentioning no amount was filed by Hyman and Thelma Rosenberg, 40 North Front street, for damages and injuries resulting of a car striking a depression at Washington and Lucas avenue Feb. 10. It was filed by the law firm of Richter and Werbalowsky.

Settlement of a claim for $99.72 filed by Jerry J. Cariffe, was voted. It was for damage to his car Dec. 3, 1956 when it was struck by a falling limb on Route 32 in the city as city workmen were trimming a tree.

A letter by Alderman Edwin F. Radel, with a petition, asked the traffic committee for immediate action to regulate the flow of traffic "especially at peak hours" at Grand and Shufeldt streets and Foxhall avenue. In another he asked for repair of a "dangerous sidewalk condition" on the west side of the city hall. Deep holes have been found, he said, immediately under the sidewalk.

Bad Drainage

A letter from Alderman Frank Zakzeski asked for study of a bad drainage condition at Ulster and Rock streets and First avenue. He proposed a study by the city engineer for remedial action and suggested that the drainage flow be changed toward the Devil's Lake area.

Alderman Frank Sass asked Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy what progress had been made toward soot control in the downtown area. The latter reported that a referee is due to appear in court June 3, and a motion for effective action will be made at that time.

Alderman Roth, in resolutions, asked for stop signs at Fairview and Merilina avenues, and Merritt and Merilina avenues. He proposed signs be placed to stop use of Lafayette avenue by heavy commercial traffic.

Alderman Norton asked for repair of a sidewalk from the corner house at Broadway and Newkirk avenue to the Miller property, for improvement of condition in the vacant lot in the Ann and Chambers street area, and for repair of all streets in the sixth ward.

Minnesota is the source of waterways leading south to the Gulf of Mexico, north to Hudson Bay, and east to the Atlantic Ocean.

New Junior High

Kingston school system should take immediate action on consolidation since the local system will not be able to accommodate them," Mr. Rider told The Freeman.

"We didn't solve the problem defeating the bond issue. We just postponed it. The Kingston area still needs a junior high school and it should be paid for not by Kingston taxpayers, but by the entire area using our school system," he said.

William A. Yates, chairman of the education committee of the civic group, today issued the following statement:

"The outcome of the vote on the Dietz school project was decisive and indicates the feeling of the majority of those citizens who voted that further justification should be established as to the need for the school at this time.

"The Kingston Civic Association can appropriately claim a victory in its campaign to oppose the proposition. However, we have never claimed that we deny the right of the children of the Kingston area to receive the best education possible at the most reasonable cost.

Directs Thinking, He Says

"The questions raised by the Civic Association concerning consolidation, location and cost of the school have forced the citizens of Kingston to think objectively concerning this issue.

"The need for additional secondary school facilities no doubt will become most pressing in the near future. The Civic Association will enthusiastically support this need as soon as the consolidation question is met squarely by the communities outside the City of Kingston.

Proposes Study

"A complete evaluation should be made concerning consolidation. A comprehensive study was conducted in 1956 by the State Education Department and is available at the board of education office. A great many of the students in the Kingston schools come from the outside communities and we have a moral obligation to continue to provide them with educational facilities.

"We believe, however, that these same communities should be willing to enter into a consolidation program under which the entire district would share more equally the cost of providing additional facilities as needed."

Sought Curran's Help

New York, May 8 (AP)—Joseph (Socks) Lanza sought to contact Thomas J. Curran, Manhattan Republican leader, for help in his controversial parole violation case, the legislative watchdog committee was told today. There was no indication that Curran gave any help to the former Fulton Fish Market racketeer. P. Vincent (Duke) Viggiano, east side Tammany leader, told the committee of a conversation between himself and Harry Lanza, Joseph's brother.

Won't Support Ike

Detroit, May 8 (AP)—A General Motors vice president today accused President Eisenhower of unsound monetary policies and said he would no longer support him. W. H. Doerfner, a GM vice president and general manager of the corporation's steering gear division, made his views known in a letter to Eisenhower. The division manufactures power and manual steering units for GM products. Doerfner told the President, "I will no longer support you nor will I support the Republican party as long as it condones your proven unsound monetary policies and your New Deal inspired international WPA."

Pass $71,987 . . .

new budget, an allowance was made for slightly over $9,000 state aid. Mr. Wakeley said that despite the fact that only a 5 percent minority group were affected by loss of state aid, they made sufficient "noise" to have the state listen, and they have passed a law giving such schools as Tillson an amount no less than the 1954-55 school year allowed them.

Previous to the vote on the budget, a motion was made that the district pay transportation for elementary school children attending the Tillson school or St. Peter's School at Rosendale, and who lived a mile or more away from their respective school. This was approved by a vote of 52 to 48.

Tellers for the budget vote and for the voting of officers were Arthur Deyo and Peter Hoffman Jr.

A motion was approved for the transfer of funds of the district to the Bank of Orange County at Rosendale.

Mrs. Harold S. Lonsdale was reelected collector - treasurer. There were no nominations for the office of clerk, and the present clerk, Mrs. Howard Sutherland, did not wish to run for office again, having served a number of years. The board was authorized to appoint a clerk at their convenience, since no one would accept the nomination.

Kingston High School or New Paltz High School were selected as schools to which parents may send their children.

A vote of thanks for services well done was extended to both Willard Hutchins and to Roy VanKeuren, the latter having completed a three-year term, as a member of the board.

The meeting lasted until 1 a. m., attendance dwindling from 100 at the beginning to about 30 at the end.

Council Votes

said. The aldermen in recess, apparently decided to obtain more information on the unit.

Erection of guard rail fence on sections of East Union street (High Road) and South Wall street, as proposed by the BPW, was approved. James Berardi, local contractor, was low bidder at $1,428. An added sum of $49.41 was required for advertising fees, it was noted.

Predicts Approval

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.) today predicted committee approval of the compromise two billion dollar school construction bill that bears his name. The House Education Committee, meeting today neared the end of consideration of the measure, and Chairman Barden (D-N.C.) said a final vote today was "a possibility." "I think the bill will pass the full committee as it is now," Kelley told a reporter.

Jet Pilot Killed

Bahrein, Persian Gulf, May 8 (AP)—One pilot was killed yesterday in the desert crashlanding of four U. S. jet training planes. the planes were part of the first flight of eight jet trainers to be turned over to the U. S. Military Training Mission in Saudi Arabia.

SYMBOL OF STRENGTH—Like a symbol of unflinching faith, this church stands alone amid a restless sea of floodwaters near College Station, Tex., on the swollen Brazos River. The picture also well illustrates the force of the floods which, while causing much damage, have brought hope to many Texans of an end to their seven years of destructive drought.

Presses for Dam

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) said today that in view of the frequency of floods in western Pennsylvania, to delay construction of the proposed Kinzua Dam on the upper Allegheny river would be "false economy." In letters to Sen. Ellender (D-La.) and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), Clark urged committee approval of a one million dollar appropriation to begin construction of the huge flood control dam near Warren, Pa. Ellender and Cannon head congressional subcommittees now studying the Kinzua project, along with numerous others in President Eisenhower's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

There are many tree farms in the United States, privately owned tracts where trees produce continuous timber crops with the aid of expert forest management.

Factory Burns

Cortland, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—A seven-hour fire destroyed a box factory yesterday and damaged wings of the building occupied by two other industries. No one was injured. Firemen said a defective wire in a chimney of the section of the three-story frame building housing the Mara-Cort Industries Inc. box factory was believed to have caused the fire. About two dozen company employes were thrown out of work.

Changes Galore In TV Programs Certain by Fall

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

New York, May 8 (AP)—All three major networks are still working overtime shuffling and reshuffling their autumn schedules, trying this show and that for size, and the fall fate of many a program still hangs in the balance. But everything points to a lot of changes.

As of this writing, the decision of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz to stop grinding out new weekly adventures of "I Love Lucy" still stands, but CBS will return some of the popular shows in a new spot, Wednesdays. Pencilled into the happy "Lucy" Monday spot is a new film series called "Dick and the Dutchess." Desi and Lucille would like to do a once-a-month, hour-long "I Love Lucy," but CBS hasn't yet been able to find a sponsor willing to pick up the check for the film, price-tagged at $300,000 a shot, even though the show remains at the top of everybody's rating pile.

Gleason Future in Air

There is still no solution concerning the television future of Jackie Gleason or his show, and the time has been filled with an hour film, "Perry Mason," based on the popular Erle Stanley Gardner books. No one knows, either, what happens to Robert Montgomery, or Sid Ceasar, and now it looks as if Ray Bolger's "Washington Square" series may get the axe.

After years and years, Roy Rogers will no longer be ridin' and fightin' on Sunday evening—but there still will be film cowboys in the old half-hour spot. "Private Secretary" will make way for a new series called "Slezak and Sons." Both "Bengal Lancers" and "Sir Lancelot" will fold their tents.

Patti Replacing Godfrey

"Hey, Jeannie," departs to make way for "Have Gun, Will Travel," and the sturdy and venerable "Two for the Money" will disappear in favor of "New York Confidential," starring Lee Tracy.

Patti Page will come into the old Wednesday night Arthur Godfrey spot and photographer Bob Cummings will be replaced by "Harbor Master," Barry Sullivan.

NBC's early evening 15 minutes across the board, now holding Jonathan Winters, Xaxier Cugat, Nat King Cole and Dinah Shore will be dispersed. Only Dinah, moving into a greater television exposure with a big variety show modeled on her last season's hour-long variety shows, knows what the future holds. George Gobel is another performer involved in a shuffle: His old show dies, but he will do an every-other-week 60-minute variety show, alternating with Eddie Fisher.

'Blondie, Trial' Failing

Danny Thomas leaves one network for another; one of the important weekly dramatic shows is also changing channels. "Blondie" and Joseph Cotton's "On Trial," while not yet definietly marked for death, are failing. Until recently, "Panic" was marked out, but has picked up ratings recently so that it may be around. The same is true of Spike Jones, whose show originally was to be substituted by a news show but now has a chance of survival. At ABC, "Treasure Hunt" will be replaced by adventure films, while both Dean Pike's talks and the Johns Hopkins files have been cancelled.

It will be a bit confusing for a time, but by the end of October we'll have the whole new schedule all straightened out in our minds.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID'S great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID'S stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Appraisal Film To Be Shown in Po'keepsie May 15

Vincent Adamo, of the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York city, will present "Field Trip With An Appraiser" a slide series, before the Mid-Hudson Chapter, Society of Residential Appraisers, on May 15 at a dinner meeting to be held at the Landmark Restaurant, Market street, Poughkeepsie.

Sidney W. Diamond of Poughkeepsie, dinner chairman, explained that since this presentation is of extreme interest to all persons interested in residential appraising, the Society of Residential Appraisers has extended an invitation to representatives of banks, savings and loan associations, real estate brokers and salesmen, independent appraisers, state officials and representatives of government agencies to attend.

Complete Tour

"The film," Mr. Diamond said, "will show a complete appraisal from the time the appraiser receives a telephone call in his office until he has completed his narrative report."

Dinner will be at 6:30 p. m. and reservations may be made by contacting Mr. Diamond's office on Cannon street, Poughkeepsie.

The Mid-Hudson Chapter of the Society of Residential Appraisers includes an area of Dutchess, Ulster, Greene, Orange and Sullivan counties and was organized because of the increased interest in residential appraising in the five county area. The objectives of the Society, an international professional group in the United States and Canada, are to raise the standards of residential property appraisers. Joseph Dinkin of Middletown is president of Mid-Hudson Chapter. Sidney W. Diamond of Poughkeepsie is a member of the board of directors. Vincent E. Adamo is a senior member of the Society, an experienced appraiser and is considered an expert on residential appraisals.

Russell to Attend Syracuse Parley For Educators

Reginald Russell, director of Adult Education for Chambers School and Lake Katrine School, will participate in the annual State Adult Conference conducted by the New York State Association of Public School Adult Educators at the Hotel Onondaga in Syracuse Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, May 12, 13 and 14.

The theme of the conference is "Adult Education Today and Tomorrow." Highlights will include the opening message by Dr. Franklyn S. Barry, superintendent of schools, Cortland, and the keynote speech by Dr. R. C. S. Young, director of Admissions of the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia, who appears through the courtesy of the General Motors Corporation.

Tours Planned

Included in several new features of this year's conference are tours and visitations to local industries, live demonstrations, actual class presentations and an adult education film clinic. Participants will have the opportunity to discuss, with competent leadership, several interest areas involving adult education problems encountered at the local level. Some of the topics for discussion will include: Adult Education As Seen by School Board and Advisory Committee Members, Industrial and Vocational Education for Adults, Helping the Aged, Social Security Education, Civil Defense and Adult Civic Education.

Keep Certified Records in Safe Place, GIs Urged

New York state veterans were urged today by the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Howard Shurter, director of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, to procure and place in safe-keeping certified copies of documents recording the major events in their lives, as well as those in the lives of their spouses. "I do not feel I can urge this too strongly, nor stress it too often," said Mr. Shurter. "Certified copies of birth, marriage, divorce, annulment, death, birth and death of children, are typical of vitally important records required when filing for benefits."

Saves Long Delay

"Many veterans and their dependents have suffered unnecessary loss and inconvenience through neglect of this important detail," continued Mr. Shurter. "These records are a 'must' if the veteran wishes to save himself or his dependents time, effort, and later delay and perhaps hardship. Many cases are on record of a widow's claim being denied pending clarification of her marital status due to the veteran's having failed to procure and maintain clear record of the death of a previous spouse or a divorce or other form of dissolution of marriage."

Veterans who have any doubt as to the validity or acceptability of their records, or who have failed to obtain these vital documents, should contact the State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main street, Kingston for assistance in obtaining the necessary certified copies and the establishment of a clear, unobstructed record. Branch offices are also maintained in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Hindsight

Fort Madison, Iowa (AP)—One parolee from the Iowa State Penitentiary managed to parlay his prison occupation into a business when he was released. Warden Percy Lainson said the man, O. S. Swigert, operated a broom making machine for most of the 35 year term. About the time he was released, the prison got a new machine. Swigert bought the old one for $1. Now he earns his living—making brooms.

FAMILY AFFAIR—When the Kueblers report for work at the Lackawanna (N.Y.) plant of the Bethlehem Steel Co., the scene takes on the aspect of a family reunion. No less than 27 members of the family have worked at the plant since the first Kuebler, big Ignatius Kuebler, started in the 24-inch rolling mill in 1904. Still on the job are these 16 members of the family gathered around a 35-inch structural mill roll. More of the family work in the Roll Department than in any other department.

Cagey Squeeze in Small Slam

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Larceny Lou himself could have done no better than today's South.

The opening club lead was won by dummy's king. East dropped the deuce. The queen of hearts lead lost to West's king. West had a single-track mind and continued clubs in spite of his partner's discouraging deuce.

South won this trick with the queen, entered dummy with the nine of trumps and discarded the eight of diamonds on the ace of clubs.

His next play was the five of diamonds and it was up to East to make a decision. He counted South's hand to the extent that South had started with seven hearts, two clubs and four other cards. If those cards had been three spades and a diamond the ace of diamonds play would lose the ace.

Then East went one step further and reasoned that a low diamond play could not hurt him. Even if South sneaked in a singleton jack he would only have 11 tricks. Hence East played low and the roof fell on him.

South won with the jack and proceeded to run his entire heart suit, discarding down to the ace and queen of spades in dummy.

East had to hold king and one spade so that the last trump lead squeezed him out of his ace of diamonds whereupon South made the last two tricks with his seven of diamonds and dummy's ace of spades.

Even though East failed to see the possibility of the squeeze he could well have afforded to go right up with the ace of diamonds. He should have realized that declarer would have ditched a diamond on the club right away if he really had started with only one card in that suit.

Population Climbs

White Plains, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—The population of suburban Westchester county has climbed to 744,149. That compares with 625,816 in 1950. Results of a special census announced yesterday included complete figures for five of the county's six cities and all of its 18 towns. An estimate was included for Yonkers, where enumerators are still a work. The population increase means the county will receive an extra $700,000 a year in state aid pending the next regular federal census in 1960.

Saturday, 10 Scouts journeyed to the Polo Grounds in New York to see the Giants play.

The regular weekly meetings of the troop are held Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock at the Tillson School.

Dangerous Corner

Editor, The Freeman,

I live in the house by the side of the road, corner of Pearl and Fair streets, a very busy and dangerous corner.

I have seen three accidents on that corner, one causing hospitalization for months.

Are the officials and the public immune to this hazard or must we see someone killed before this is corrected?

Many people have said to me there ought to be a light there in order that pedestrians could cross the street in safety.

CORA ACKERLY

Comes as Surprise

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Rep. Joseph P. O'Hara (R-Minn.) said today the Eisenhower administration's proposals for changes in the new natural gas bill "came as a bit of a surprise" to sponsors of the measure. O'Hara, who introduced it jointly with Rep. Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Commerce Committee, said he did not know what effect the administration recommendations would have on the bill. "I haven't had a chance to analyze it," he said in an interview. Harris said yesterday the administration-sought changes were "more than minor" and would make passage of the disputed legislation more difficult.

Fireman Dies

New York, May 8 (AP)—Fireman Matthew J. Belford, 41, of (77 E. Firemen worked for 30 minutes in an effort to revive him. Belford, a fireman for 19 years, was the father of four.

Coach House Play To Open Tonight At Geo. Washington

Salem, Mass., in the witch burning days toward the close of the 17th century, is the scene of "The Crucible," by Mr. Miller to follow his Pulitzer-Prize play, "Death of a Salesman," which will be the next attraction at the George Washington School, presented by the Coach House Players. The Crucible will be given at 8 tonight and Thursday night at the George Washington School.

This play is a sardonic picture of the grisly chapter in American history when a mass of hysteria swept a whole community into condemning 19 people convicted of witchcraft in the testimony of malicious and irresponsible witnesses, and it relates the passions of the persecuters and the victims who were accused of communion with Satan.

Chief among the author's gallery of portraits of people who lived, loved, feared and died in this Salem nightmare are a farmer and his wife, John and Elizabeth Proctor who will be portrayed by Elliot Nevens and Jane Smith.

The play tells how a quartet of exhibitionistic young girls, to escape the consequence of having been caught in a "sinful" pastime of having been dancing in a forest, hurled accustations of witchcraft at Elizabeth Proctor and other highly respectful members of a well meaning but not too clear-headed community — accusations feverishly taken up by adults with motivations equally responsible.

On the basis of the flimsy evidence of these girls, scores of innocents are brought to trial and condemned by prejudiced, fear ridden authorities. Those who confess their guilt are saved from death. But the farmer John Proctor cannot buy his life at the price of such a lie. Wrestling with his conscience he defies his crazed community and goes to the gallows.

In addition to John and Elizabeth Proctor, the cast of 19 will include Richard Becker as the Rev. Parris, a mean minded parson; Fran Madison as the harsh deputy governor of the colony known as Mr. Danforth; Lonnie Modica portrays Abigail Williams as the mischief-making chief accusor and Ann Balk plays Mary Warren, her intimidated ally, and the Reverend Hale played by Alton Whitmore as the preacher overwhelmed with horror at the fury of bigotry unleashed by the trials. Others in the cast, directed by Houston Richards are Kay Fletcher as Rebecca Nurse, Norman Shapiro as Mr. Frances Nurse, Mary Swezi as Betty Parris, Linda Hall as Susanna Walcott, Eleanor Cohen as Mercy Lewis, Sara Mulligan as Tituba, Hilda Krum as Sara Good, Estelle Page as Ann Putnam, Stan London as Thomas Putnam, Dennis Brady as Giles Corey, Don Dumm as Ezekiel Cheever and Ed Guziak as John Williard.

Historical Society Holds First Meeting

John P. Remensnyder, a member of the Ulster County Historical Society, was guest speaker at the first meeting of the year of the group on Saturday, May 4, at Bevier House, Marbletown. Mr. Remensnyder of New York city and Mynderse House, Saugerties, a former president of the American Pewter Collector's Club and currently member of its board of governors, spoke on old American pewter and showed many items from his personal collection.

Pewter, an alloy of tin and lead was made in large quantities in England from tin mined in Cornwall and colonists here were required to buy the finished article there so that manufacture in this country was difficult, Mr. Remensnyder said. However about twenty years after the founding of Boston pewter was made there from old broken pieces which were remolded and was subsequently manufactured in New York city, Albany, Philadelphia, Vermont, and Hudson, and by 1786 a guild of pewterers existed. Among the interesting pieces on exhibition were communion goblets and tankard, porrigers, buckles, spoons and sundials and an old whale oil reading lamp with magnifying glass inset. One of the very old pieces was a spoon dug up in his Saugerties garden. Other unusual pieces were a sugar bowl with beaded edge made in Philadelphia in 1780, and a toy sized broom used to scoop tea leaves from the pot. This last was excavated from the site of British Army camp in New York city. Collection of pewter is a fairly recent interest here, Mr. Remensnyder pointed out, the first large showing having been at the Hudson Fulton Celebration in 1909.

Mrs. Herbert Cutler of Kingston, chairman of the program committee, announced that the next meeting of the society on June 5th would be a box supper at Bevier House at 6 p. m. She asked that each member be prepared to tell an anecdote of old Ulster county.

Mrs. Howard Lewis of Kingston, chairman of the membership committee presented names of the following persons who were elected to membership. Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon C. Fuller, Mrs. Frederick E. Hyde, Mrs. Isabelle Mc Loughlin, Dr. John Jacobson, Dr. Ralph Wickeser, Dr. Eugene Link, F. Morse Roosa, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Staples, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Vanderpool, Mrs. Porter Stone, Miss Mary Hubbard, Attorney and Mrs. Floyd W. Powell.

Charles Ellis of Kingston, chairman of the acquisitions committee, described the functions of his committee. It checks all objects offered to the society for suitability and has already listed all articles now in Bevier House.

It is desirable to build up our collection of early American furniture as the house is listed as one of historical interest in the county, Mr. Ellis pointed out. The committee is working out a plan for the ultimate furnishing of various rooms, possibly in different periods. Desirable articles would be tester beds, Chippendale chests of drawers, scroll work mirrors, Dutch cas, secretaries, highboys, drop leaf tables, Queen Ann or Chippendale chairs, wing chairs, preferably of New York state origin. Specimens of work of local artists, old glass and china, Indian artifacs, old hardware such as hinges or locks, pre-19th century books are also desirable. Everything offered would become the property of the society, Mr. Ellis concluded.

A tea followed the meeting. Mrs. Jean Jeanneney, of New Paltz, chairman of the refreshment committee, was assisted by Mrs. John L. McKinnon, co-chairman and Mrs. Charles Fogg both of Kingston. Mrs. Howard Lewis and Mrs. Jansen H. Preston poured.

JUNIOR PROM ROYALTY NAMED—Carol Gaise, chairman of the Kingston High School Junior Prom held Saturday, places a crown on the head of Mark Dean, named king of the event. Bunnie Sklon, queen, receives her crown from Marvin Shaub. The event, which was given by the Class of 1958, had for its theme, "Night in Venice." A flower laden gondola served as a decorative centerpiece. (Pennington photo)

Calls Concern 'Pose'

New York, May 8 (AP)—An official of the National Assn. of Manufacturers says the concern of union leadership for the worker and his rights is a "pose." Charles R. Sligh, executive vice president of the NAM, made the statement yesterday. He commented on criticism voiced against the NAM and U. S. Chamber of Commerce the day before by AFL-CIO President George Meany. Meany said the two business organizationspose as friends of labor while advocating legislation that might destroy unions.

GREETING DAUGHTER'S FRIENDS

The following letter comes from the mother of a young girl: "Will you please tell me about a detail of greeting and leave-taking? Should I rise from my chair to shake hands with a young man friend of my daughter? For example: When they both come into the room to say good-night before leaving for a movie or a dance? If this is a man whom I have never met before, would your answer be any different?"

You would rise to receive a friend of your daughter's just as you would rise to receive a visitor of your own. But if he is someone who is often at your house and he merely follows your daughter as she comes into the room to say good-bye before going out, you would merely say good-night to your daughter and "Good night, Jim" to him, without rising or offering your hand—unless he approaches your chair with his hand held out. In this case you would, of course, shake hands but not necessarily rise.

May She Write to Him?

Dear Mrs. Post: A young man I know will be leaving soon to go to a distant city to work for a year. I would like to know if it would be proper to write to him first after he leaves, or if I must wait until I hear from him before I can write?

Answer: If he is a really old friend, it would be quite all right for you to write him news from home. If it is someone you know very slightly, it is better to wait to reply to whatever he sends you (a letter for a letter! a picture post-card for a picture post-card).

The Rehearsal Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary to invite the clergyman and the organist to the rehearsal dinner?

Answer: If the rehearsal is in church and the dinner someplace else, it is not necessary to invite the clergyman or the organist to the rehearsal dinner. If the dinner is to be held in the church parlor immediately following the rehearsal, the du oywebl- T..u rehearsal, they would be asked.

So many readers have inquired about engraved "Wedding Forms for a Widow or a Divorcee" that Mrs. Post has written a leaflet by that title, E-9, which explains the proper wording and procedure for sending invitations or announcements. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BELL

Chichester-Bell Wedding Is Held

On Sunday, April 27 at 1 p. m. in the Methodist Church of Cairo, Miss Eileen Chichester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil B. Chichester of Purling, became the bride of George Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bell of 70 Allen street, Saugerties.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Ernest McMullen, pastor.

Miss Evelyn Priest of Henry street was the soloist for the occasion.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of white lace over net and taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet. Her half crown held a fingertip illusion veil.

Mrs. Frances Meddaugh of Purling, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a lilac gown of net over taffeta and carried yellow roses.

Harold Bell of Saugerties, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers included David Bell of Saugerties and Clifford Chichester Jr,, of Camp Polk, La.

A reception was held in Odd Fellows Hall, Cairo.

The bride is a graduate of Cairo Central School and is employed by IBM in Kingston.

Her husband is a graduate of Saugerties High School and is in the service of the navy. He is stationed in Norfolk, Va.

Dutch Men's Club 'House of Magic' Is Set for Friday

William A. Gluesing who will present the General Electric Company's "House of Magic" at Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church, Friday at 7:30 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Men's Club, is well equipped to demonstrate the marvels of modern science, Alexander Yosman, vice-president of the club said today.

Starting out as an electrical engineer, he at the same time was an amateur magician. These two talents form a perfect combination for his present career in which he provides entertainment of an instructive nature.

President Rinschler of the Men's Club urges any club member who has not received his tickets to call either himself or Mr. Yosman, chairman of the entertainment committee, in order not to miss this interesting program.

STRINGIN' ALONG—Tell Martin Beck of Pittsburgh, Pa., to go fly a kite and he'll probably take you up on it. Back in 1938 he started saving string. Today he has a ball 8½ feet around and weighing 650 pounds. He is shown with grandchildren who get kick out of a granddad's hobby.

Mr. Gluesing, born on a Wisconsin farm, taught school and became principal of a school until his career was interrupted by World War 1. Discharged, he put his magic talent to work to pay for an education as an electrical engineer. He continued his hobby after joining the GE as a student engineer on the test course at Schenectady and became a charter member of the Robert Houdini Assembly.

His rat-in-the-bottle trick, where he horifies his audience by pouring a drink from a bottle, then breaking the bottle and producing a wriggling rat, convinced GE engineers he had talents which were being wasted as a student engineer. He became the "House of Magic" demonstrator, where no illusions or trickery are involved in the demonstration of the wonders of electricity. "House of Magic" has been shown before millions since its start in 1933 before the Chicago Century of Progress exposition.

Labor Racketeers On Way Out Now

Ithaca, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—The "day of reckoning is at hand" for labor racketeers, says Deputy Under Secretary of Labor Millard Cass.

Abuses by labor racketeers, he said last night, have "hurt the whole labor movement and induced many people to generalize about trade unions and their leaders."

The public, federal and state law enforcement agencies and the labor movement, he said, have been "outraged" by testimony developed in hearings conducted by the Senate Rackets Committee.

Cass spoke at a dinner held at Cornell University in conjunction with the fourth annual conference on current problems in labor relations.

Jets Buzz Gotham

New York, May 8 (AP)—Reports of low-flying unidentified jet planes created a mystery in the city last night. A fighter-interceptor sent up to track them could not find them. Scores of residents in all parts of the city reported hearing the planes, which were said to have "buzzed" Manhattan and to have flown from the southern tip of the island to the area around George Washington Bridge. The telephone switchboard at police headquarters lighted up with complaints from residents of lower Manhattan.

Saugerties Widens Lead in UCAL by Trimming Onteora, 9-2

Kugelman Tosses Three-Hitter as Sawyers Win 8th

Saugerties High's baseball supermen rattled off their eighth straight win yesterday by taking a 9-2 decision from Onteora Central in a battle of unbeaten UCAL titans at Boiceville.

Veteran righthander Skip Kugelman handcuffed the Indians with a dazzling three-hitter as the Sawyers completed a sweep of the first half of their loop schedule. Coach Bill Straub's heroes are 6-0 in the circuit and lead the runnerup Indians (3-1) by a healthy two full games.

Upset Not Forthcoming

Onteora went into the tussle with high hopes of springing an upset. But Saugerties proved early it is the master.

The Sawyers jumped all over Onteora's ace hurler, Lou Vanacore, in the third inning and chased him and before reliefer Jim Rose could put down the side, Saugerties had six runs and game safely tucked away. Kugelman breezed in from there to post his second straight complete job.

Saugerties' power-packed lineup sprayed 14 hits over the Boiceville acreage. Don Whitaker and Jim Erceg were the biggest thorns in the side of the losers, getting three hits each. One of Whitaker's was a double.

Eddie Riozzi and Kugelman also had two-baggers. Jim Di Pasquale smacked out a pair of singles.

Jensen Doubles Twice

Ted Jensen was the only hitter to give Kugelman trouble. He doubled twice. Catcher Bruce Gordon got the other safety.

Kugelman struck out 9 and walked five. Onteora touched him up for both its runs in the third. The rest of the time he was near untouchable.

Vanacore was charged with five runs and five hits. He fanned three compared to Rose's half dozen. Neither walked a batter.

Onteora, which entered the game with an overall mark of 4-0, faces New Paltz Thursday in a game that has been moved ahead a day.

TAKES OVER—Cookie Lavagetto, the Washington Senators' new manager, takes the field for the first time in his new position at Detroit. Lavagetto replaced Chuck Dressen as manager prior to the Senators' game with the Tigers. (NEA Telephoto)

Ousted Dressen Looking for Job

Detroit, May 8 (AP)—Charlie (Chuck) Dressen, bounced from his job as manager of the Washington Senators, remained up in the air today about his future. Should he take a front office post with the last-place American League club or look elsewhere?

"So far," Dressen said, "I have no other offers."

Club president Calvin Griffith, who came here from Washington yesterday to replace the 58-year-old manager with his No. 1 coach, Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, offered Dressen a new position as coordinator of player personnel.

"I'm definitely interested," Dressen said, "But I told them it would have to be for more than one year."

Griffith said he planned to return to Washington tomorrow to talk with the club directors about a long-term pact for Dressen.

The 44-year-old Lavagetto was nearing the end of his 18-year playing career when Dressen, as manager of the Oakland club in the Pacific Coast League in 1950, picked the one-time World Series star as his aide. He has been with Dressen ever since.

The managerial change was a drastic move to shake the Senators out of a nine-game losing streak.

TV Bout

Valdes Pick OverHolman

Portland, Ore., May 8 (AP)—Nino Valdes, the Cuban ranked ninth among heavyweights, hopes to improve his rating in a nationally televised bout against Johnny Holman of Chicago tonight.

Valdes is established locally as a 2½-to-1 favorite for the bout, which is scheduled to start at 10 p. m. EDT (ABC-TV).

The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds, but both fighters predicted it would not go the limit, each announcing he was going for a knockout.

For Holman it is an opportunity to climb back into the top 10. He was knocked from the ratings after losing to second-ranked Eddie Machen and fourth-ranked Willie Pastrano.

Valdes, who once knocked out high-ranking Tommy Jackson, fell down the list after losing twice to Machen and to Bob Baker. Since then, Valdes has made a European tour in which he scored four knockouts in four bouts.

Portland scoring rules call for 11 points to be divided among the fighters in each round.

Basilio Bout Set

Seattle, May 7 (AP)—Carmen Basilio, world's welterweight champion, will fight a 10-round nonchampionship match here on May 20, the Seattle Boxing Club announced last night. Basilio's opponent has not been named.

Jeffcoat Latest to Go Route

Tebbetts' Faith in Pitchers Now Paying Rich Dividends

(By The Associated Press)

Birdie Tebbett's unwavering faith in his much-maligned pitchers has begun to pay off for the "good-hit, no-pitch" Cincinnati Redlegs.

Last night, for the third game in succession, Tebbetts found a pitcher who could go nine innings. As a result the Redlegs today owned a handsome eight-game winning streak, the longest in the major leagues.

Hal Jeffcoat is the latest Redleg route-goer, with his 9-2 triumph over Brooklyn, a triumph that hoisted Cincinnati to within a half game of the second-place Dodgers and a game and a half behind the National League leading Milwaukee Braves.

Jeffcoat's six-hit performance on the heels of complete jobs by Brooks Lawrence and Don Gross against Pittburgh Sunday. Prior to that, only one pitcher—Lawrence—had gone the distance in Cincinnati's first 16 games.

The Redlegs picked up a full game on the Braves, who dropped an 8-4 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies as Robin Roberts stopped them with six hits. The New York Giants whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 8-5 and the Chicago Cubs took a 14-inning 10-8 decision from Pittsburgh to dump the Pirates into the cellar.

Yank's Streak Halted

The Cleveland Indians nipped New York 2-1 to snap the Yankees' six-game winning streak but lost the services of Herb Score for an indefinite period. The prize southpaw was struck in the right eye by a hard hit liner off the bat of Gil McDougald in the first inning.

The pitcher was taken to a hospital.

"He has light perception," said Dr. Don Kelly, Tribe physician, "but we can't do anything until the hemorrhaging has stopped. He could be perfectly all right, but we just won't know for two or three days."

Bob Lemon took over when Score was carried off the field with two out in the first inning and held the Yankees to six hits for his second victory in six decisions. Tom Sturdivant, the loser, walked Rocky Colavito in the eighth with the bases full to force home the winning run.

Despite their loss, the Yankees retained their half game first place lead over the Chicago White Sox who were beaten by the Boston Red Sox 4-3. Ted Williams drove in three runs with a single and his sixth home run to provide the batting support for Tom Brewer who hurled a three-hitter.

KC Holds Fourth

Kansas City retained its half game lead over fifth place Cleveland with a 3-2 triumph over Baltimore in 10 innings.

The Reds pounded three Brooklyn pitchers for 14 hits, including runs-scoring doubles by their hottest hitter, Don Hoak, who leads the league with a .410 batting average. Johnny Podres, who pitched the first seven innings for Brooklyn, was charged with his second defeat. Jeffcoat owns five lifetime victories over Brooklyn but this was his first at Ebbets Field.

Pee Wee Reese and Duke Snider were back in the Dodger lineup but the defending champions will be without the services of Gino Cimoli for several days. The outfielder sprained his ankle, stepping into an outfield hole, and was taken to a hospital where X-rays proved negative.

Warren Spahn suffered his first defeat of the season, after four victories, when the Phillies blasted Milwaukee pitching for 13 hits. Grarr Hamner, playing his first game at second base after a brief experiment as a pitcher, walloped a home run and single and Stan Lopata had a perfect day for the Phillies, three singles and a double. Roberts struck out five, walked one for his second victory after three straight losses.

Giants Get 15 Hits

The Giants, playing without Willie Mays, who is hospitalized by a virus attack, enjoyed their biggest day of the season. They pelted a pair off Cardinal hurlers for 15 hits, including home runs by Red Schoendienst and Dusty Rhodes. The big hitter, however, was catcher Ray Katt, who drove in three runs with a double and two singles. Red Worthington, with a brilliant two-hit relief chore through five runless innings, earned his first victory of the season.

A former Yankee, Gene Woodling, started the Yankees on their downfall. He singled with one out in the eighth and went to third when Al Smith popped a fly to right field which dropped in front of Hank Bauer and on which Bauer threw wild to second. A walk to Vic Wertz filled the bases. Roger Maris fanned before Colavito walked to force home the tie-breaking run.

Sign to Show Derby Finish

Nashville, Tenn., May 7 (AP)—Bill Corum, president of Louisville's Churchill Downs, said today a red disc will be hung over the track at the finish line before next year's Kentucky Derby.

The disc would eliminate any confusion such as last Saturday, when jockey Willie Shoemaker misjudged the finish line and momentarily eased up on Gallant Man, which finished second in a photo finish to Iron Liege.

Hamburg Trots Set

Buffalo, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—The harness racing season opens in western New York tonight at the Buffalo Raceway in nearby Hamburg. The meeting runs for 70 nights.

Ricki Starr-Murphy In Wrestling Feature

Ricki Starr, the sensational Hollywood wrestler-ballet dancer, meets Irish (Skull) Murphy in tonight's best-of-three falls wrestling feature at the municipal auditorium.

Semi-final bout, a 60-minute time limit, best-of-three falls tag team affair brings together Lenny Montana and Gino Garibaldi against Dr. Jerry Graham, the hypnotist, and Roy Shires.

Czyna Mandor, a new Hungarian import, meets the celebrated bad man, Karl Von Hess, in the 30-minute opener. First bout is scheduled at 8:30 p. m.

McDougald Threatens To Quit

New York, May 8 (AP)—Gil McDougald, New York Yankee shortstop whose liner felled Herb Score at Cleveland last night, today was quoted as saying he would quit baseball if the pitcher loses the sight of his right eye.

Joe King, writing in the New York World Telegram and Sun said McDougald sat in the clubhouse talking to Hank Bauer after the game and said:

"If he loses his sight and you hear me, Bauer, I am going to quit this game. It is not that important when it gets to this."

McDougald, upset over the accident, gave his version of the incident.

"I had to swing and I was surprised when he gave me a fast ball without much on it. I recall that I was surprised that he didn't follow through, as he usually does. Perhaps that is why he wasn't ready to handle the ball."

The count was 2-2 when McDougald, the second batter to face the strikeout king, lashed the liner back to the box.

Hartford Indians, one of the leading semi-pro baseball teams in the east, are seeking local bookings. The manager is Otis Womack, Charter Oak Terrace, Hartford, Conn.

Hoad Advances In Rome Tennis

Rome, May 7 (AP)—Australia's Lew Hoad and Ashley Cooper swept into the third round of the Rome international tennis tournament today.

Hoad crushed Gordon Talbot of South Africa, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0. Cooper toppled Alberto Lazzarino of Italy, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Hugh Stewart of Pasadena, Calif., led the American show which also produced advances for two ranking women players, Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, Queens, and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif.

Stewart set back Oscar Ebner of Italy, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4. Malcolm Fox of Baltimore defaulted.

Mrs. Knode defeated Valerie Forbes of South Africa, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Hard advanced by default over Ginette Bucaille of France.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

John Jay Hopkins had flown in from Japan in mid-June of 1955 and now he was at the Columbia Country Club course in Washington watching the close of the second day's play in the International Golf Championship and Canada Cup Matches.

Jay Hopkins, as he liked to be called, was wrapped in a raincoat, for it was teeming and the bad break in the weather held the paying guests to a minimum.

"Will you be here tomorrow morning?" some big shot asked Hopkins.

"No, I'm playing at Burning Tree," replied the president of the International Golf Association he organized.

That was the kind of character Hopkins was. Here he was paying something like $150,000 to bring 52 champion golfers from 26 countries to Washington, and he wasn't even going to be around to see the show. He preferred to play himself, you see.

Hopkins' big business was nuclear energy, of course, but he was also the greatest sports promoter this well-seasoned observer ever bumped into. Hopkins, who did not come into the promotional end of golf until 1953, did more for the professional side of it in four years than all the world associations and brass accomplished in 64.

HOPKINS WASN'T INTERESTED in taking over golf, as some skeptics seemed to suspect. He simply set out to build international good will through golf and succeeded in doing so with dignity.

The day before the tournament in Washington, all of the players met President Eisenhower at the White House. That night, at a "Meet the Teams Dinner," the ambassador of each nation sat with th players representing his country. Vice-President Nixon was the guest of honor.

"If we can play together, we can live together," he said.

Hopkins started his matchless tournament in Montreal in 1953, when it was won by the Argentines, Roberto De Vicenzo and Antonio Cerda. The Australians, Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle, popped down in front in Quebec in 1954, and Ed Furgol and Chick Harbert gave the United States its first victory in '55.

NOW THE FLAMBOYANT Hopkins decided it was time to really put his whopper on the road. He needed Ben Hogan and Sam Snead to put it over big at Wentworth, England, and this they did capturing the cup while watched by 20,000 spectators the first day. There were 60 champions from 30 countries.

And where do you suppose Hopkins was taking the production in late October of this year? All the way to Japan.

With Jay Hopkins' death at 63, there is, of course, some question about the future of the International Golf Association and the International Trophy Play and the Canada Cup International Invitation Matches. But Frank Pace, Jr., who succeeds Hopkins as president of the General Dynamics Corporation, once played in the United States Amateur Championship and remains as enthusiastic about golf as was his illustrious predecessor.

As Ben Hogan stresses, Hopkins did something not only for golfers but for people around the world.

Maybe golf can dig up four or five guys to replace Jay Hopkins. It will take that many.

Ronnie Ashdown Assigned to Class D Club

Ex-KHS Catcher Plays Outfield For Cub Farm

A former Kingston High School baseball and football star has started his minor league apprenticeship with the Chicago Cubs farm system, a trail he hopes will lead him to Wrigley Field in the not too distant future.

Ronnie Ashdown, an All-DUSO football player and .400 baseball hitter, survived spring training cuts in Arizona and has been assigned by the Cubs to the Paris (Ill.) team of Illinois-Indiana League, a Class D circuit.

Ronnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Ashdown of 11 Wrentham street and grandson of John Ashdown, prominent baseball figure in the pre-World War 2 era.

Managed by Walker

The Paris Lakers are managed by Rube Walker, a brother to Al Walker, the Brooklyn Dodger catcher.

Walker has assigned Ashdown to an outfield post, although he worked as both catcher and outfielder during the spring training.

Ronnie reports that baseball interest runs high in Paris, a town of about 9500 population. Crowds are consistently good and the ball players are idolized by the townfolk.

Through most of his career, Ashdown set his sights on a catching career, the quickest, surest way to reach the majors, but he isn't chagrined by the shift to the outfield. "I'm happy to be playing every day," he said. He collected a pair of hits in the seasonal opener.

Eight-Team League

Besides Paris, the league is made up of Lafayette, Ind., Mattoon, Mich., Michigan City, Ind., Kokomo, Decatur, Ill., Clinton and Dubuque, Iowa. The league plays a 126-game schedule.

RONNIE ASHDOWN

Ashdown and Ken Rollins, a pitcher, are the only players on the starting nine that came from east of the Mississippi.

The Kingston youngster reports that hustle is the watchword in minor league ball. "You have to hustle every minute to hold your job and they run you hard" he writes. And Ronnie is running as hard as anybody in the league.

Hawks Drop 2nd Tilt

Danbury Pins 8-4 Loss On New Paltz Teachers

Danbury (Conn.) Teachers spread their scoring over six innings to trim visiting New Paltz Teachers, 8-4, yesterday.

The New Englanders hopped off to a 5-0 lead in the first three innings before the Hawks could break through and score all their runs in the fourth. Danbury wrapped it up with solo tallies in the fifth, sixth and eighth.

Shortstop Krafick slammed a homer for the winners who got six hits off Frank Coulard who pitched the route.

Coulard and George Juiliani paced New Paltz's eight-hit assault with a double and single each.

Coulard, who hails from Newburgh, racked up 11 strikeouts, but walked 8. Valus, who started and got credit for the victory, and reliefer Berfgus combined to fan 9 and pass 6.

New Paltz, which is 0-2, plays hosts to Plattsburgh Teachers Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

(By The Associated Press)

Dick Selinger of Wellsville today was the triple threat of the New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League.

Selinger smashed three triples last night to lead the Wellesville Braves to an 11-1 victory over the Falcons at Jamestown and to tie a league record, which he now shares with three other players.

The Wellsville slugger's record blasts drove in five runs and he scored two more himself.

In other league games, the visiting Corning Red Sox defeated Elmira, 5-3, the Oilers beat Batavia, 7-6, at Olean, and Erie smashed the Blue Sox, 13-7, at Bradford.

Marlboro Scores

DiCapua's Relief Work Checks Highland, 8-6

Dom DiCapua pitched shutout ball over the last three innings to save an 8-6 triumph for Marlboro Central over homestanding Highland High yesterday in the UCAL.

The sophomore righthander rescued Brian White in the fourth who in turn had bailed out starter Mike Caserto in the second. DiCapua went on from there to gain credit for the win.

Marlboro never trailed in the game. It chased starter Bob Valentino in the very first inning, scoring four times. Walt Burger took up the chores and went the rest of the way.

Hitting Stars

Kent Kadick and Doug Swartz got five of Marlboro's eight hits. Swartz had two singles and a double and Kadick a two-bagger and single.

Highland collected just four hits. One was a double by Bob Skipp.

DiCapua struck out 8 and walked 3. Burger, the loser, whiffed 4 and passed 1.

Marlboro' won-lost record stands at 2-4 in the loop and Highland's at 2-3.

Frick Sees Three Leagues in Majors

Houston, May 7 (AP)—Baseball commissioner Ford Frick said today the major leagues "must" be extended from "coast to coast, north to south."

Frick said no reorganization is imminent but that he expects to see more major league cities in his lifetime.

"I don't know when it will be or what form it will take but I have a hunch we will see three major leagues," Frick told a luncheon group honoring Harry Walker, manager of the Houston Buffs of the Texas League.

"I believe in a fundamental theory that baseball cannot sit tight," Frick said. "Baseball has sat tight about 50 years. The time has come when serious thought must be given to a change."

The sun does not travel in an orbit like the planets.

Schenectady Jinx Drops Springfield In Eastern Cellar

(By The Associated Press)

Springfield's Giants are getting that uncomfortable feeling that Schenectady has their number.

The Giants have lost eight games in the Eastern League season—five to the league-leading Schenectady Blue Jays. They have beaten the jays only once.

Schenectady did it again last night, 2-1.

Elsewhere, a missed pop fly with two out in the ninth gave the Albany Senators an 11-9 victory over the Syracuse Chiefs. At Binghamton, John Davolio blanked the Reading Indians 3-0.

Springfield in Cellar

At one time this season, Springfield held forth in second place. But since they started their first series with the Blue Jays, it's been one misfortune after another. The Giants now are in the league cellar.

Lefty Bob Milo earned his second victory in three starts. For Springfield, Chet Vincent went the route, allowing only six hits. The Jays got a pair of runs off him in the fourth that proved to be the winning margin.

At Syracuse, the Chiefs were ahead 9-8 in the ninth. The bases were filled. There were two out. Albany's Gale Dennis lifted an easy pop fly to first baseman Ed Kneuper but he apparently lost it in the lights. It fell safe for a two-run hit. Then Augie Amorina singled in an insurance run.

Davolio's shut out of Reading got a big assist from Frank Leja's, who homered in the second inning, Leroy Thomas, who smashed a two-run triple in the eighth.

Davolio walked eight and allowed three hits.

Russian Bid Spurned

Buenos Aires, May 7 (AP)—The Argentine Football (soccer) Association today rejected a Russian invitation to send an all-star team to play in Moscow in August.

Mustion Halts Loop Losing Skein With Four-Hitter

After three consecutive losses in the UCAL, Rondout Valley Central returned to winning form by downing Wallkill Central, 7-2, yesterday at Kerhonkson behind a neat four-hitter by John Mustion.

By winning, Coach Hal Ross' outfit snapped a three-game league losing streak and boosted their record to 2-3. They also hold a non-loop verdict over Fallsburgh.

Rondout collected just six hits off lefthander Henry Hecht but made the most of them. All the blows were singles.

Wallkill Scores in 4th

Wallkill packed three of its hits into the fourth inning to score both its runs. Bob Nuzzo's double and singles by Gene Bilboa and Ray Rodriquez did the damage. Mustion had a non-hitter going up until then. Frank Labriola socked out the other safety in the fifth.

Rondout won the game by spurting in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings for five of its markers. The first two came in the opening round.

Mustion recorded nine strikeouts and Hecht eight. They each walked four.

Mustion and Vic D'Alessio led the hitters with two safeties apiece.

Thursday, Rondout journeys to Fallsburgh and on Friday hosts Marlboro in the UCAL.

Score Struck In Right Eye By Line Drive

Cleveland, May 8 (AP)—Not for two or three days — possibly longer—will doctors be able to tell how how seriously Herb

Herb Score

Score, Cleveland's southpaw strikeout king, was injured last night when a line drive struck him in the right eye.

The ball, hit by Gil McDougald, veteran New York Yankee infielder, knocked Score to the ground, but he remained conscious. Two cuts were inflicted —one along the eyebrow and the other on the side of his nose, and he bled profusely from the nose and mouth.

He could distinguish light from dark with the damaged eye, Dr. Don Kelly, Tribe physician, said after a preliminary examination. The bleeding prevented additional testing, and Kelly said:

"He could be perfectly all right, but we just won't know for two or three days."

His eye swathed in bandages, Score listened in a Lakeside Hospital bed to a radio broadcast of the late innings in which the Indians won their initial 1957 game with the Yankees 2-1.

The crowd of 18,386 was stunned when Score went down, and many heard the thud of the ball hitting him. Prayerfully the fans waited for what little news could be given them on the public address system about the injury.

The pitch McDougald hit was only the twelfth one Score threw, and it came on a 2-2 count. Score said "it was right down the middle—maybe a little low—and probably straight as a string, and it came back that way."

McDougald, who lined one off pitcher Frank Lary's hip in Detroit last week, wiped his eyes with a towel in the corner of the Yankee dressing room and sat worrying while other players dressed. He didn't want to talk.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

I got a real break last winter without even realizing it. One shoulder went on the fritz, some kind of rheumatics. The doctor insisted I get regular exercise, swimming being his recommendation.

I started steamboating more lengths each day, found the wind getting better and better by the week, general muscle tone years younger by the month.

So in early summer shagging along after elephant for hot Kenya miles came easier, and slogging over Alaskan mountains with 30 pounds of camera gear and odd duffle on a packboard was a cinch.

You may not be a complete old crock at this point either, just in the middle 40's like me, but you're a dunce, brother, if you figure to lay out 1,000 or 2,000 smackers next fall for a big-country hunt and aren't willing to start getting ready for it right now.

Good Conditioning

One of the trophy-hunters I know is a photographer. Prior to making a British Columbia sheep hunt for some old twist-horn that lives clear on top of the world this lad starts disdaining elevators. He walks up more and more flights of stairs each day, eventually gets to where he can make a 10th floor apartment, running with no strain.

The well-upholstered office-worker who is 10 steaks overweight and five years on the shady side of 50 can't pay too much attention to being fit physically for a hunt. To him it may mean the difference between coming back with meat or coming back dead meat himself.

The sad part of readying ourselves to have fun, of course, is that it takes time. You can't shed 40 pounds in a month, not without running yourself, and hardening muscles takes several months before there's any real progress. So the time to start worrying about October is in May or June. Start then and the guide won't have to boost you up where the goats are.

Ferrari Cars In Grand Prix

Modena, Italy, May 7 (AP)—Italy's Ferrari and Maserati works will send four cars apiece to the Grand Prix of Monaco May 19. Ferrari will enter world champion Juan Manuel Fangio, of Argentina; Jean Behra of France and U. S. driver Harry Schell.

Maserati has signed up Peter Collins and Mike Hawthorn of Britain and Luigi Musso of Italy.

Milwaukee Woman Elected WIBC Head

Dayton, Ohio, May 8 (AP)—Mrs. Jeannette Knepprath, Milwaukee, was re-elected president of the Women's International Bowling Congress (WIBC) last night for the 34th consecutive year.

The Congress announced Buffalo, N. Y., has been named site of the 1959 tournament. Next year's tournament, decided upon last year, will be played at San Francisco beginning April 17.

Cimoli, Sauer Both Injured In Night Games

New York, May 8 (AP)—Outfielders Hank Sauer of the New York Giants and Gino Cimoli of the Brooklyn Dodgers, suffered injuries in last night's games. At least one of them was not expected to be in the lineup tonight.

Cimoli, currently the hottest hitting Dodger, suffered a sprained ankle in the first inning of Cincinnati's 9-2 victory over Brooklyn. He was taken to a hospital after the game where X-rays showed no break.

Cimoli, however, was ordered to stay overnight for observation. The ankle is badly swollen. Team physician Dr. Richard Kubiak said he did not think Cimoli, who had made seven hits in Brooklyn's last two games, would be able to play.

Hurt in First

The outfielder said he hurt the ankle in the first inning when he stepped into a hole in the outfield. He did not mention it until after the game because he was afraid he'd be taken out of the lineup.

Sauer pulled a groin muscle in the fifth inning of the Giants' 8-5 victory over St. Louis, while chasing a fly ball. After hitting a single in the bottom of the fifth, he was taken out for a pinch runnner. The injury is not considered serious, but Giant manager Bill Rigney said he would wait to see how Sauer felt tonight before he made a decision on his big outfielder.

Report on Score Is Encouraging

Cleveland, May 8 (AP)—An eye specialist gave an encouraging report today on the injured right eye of Herb Score, the million dollar southpaw pitching phenomenon of the Cleveland Indians.

The eyeball itself will be saved, but it is too early to tell what damage may have been done inside the eyeball, Dr. Charles Thomas told infielder Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees.

One of Score's blazing fast balls came back like lightning from McDougald's bat last night and struck the pitcher. The Yankee player sought out the specialist today to learn Score's condition. He was quoted as saying last night he would quit baseball if Score should lose his sight. But today he added: "That was a spur of the moment statement."

Vote on School Building Put Off

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The House Education Committee today cut a compromise two billion dollar school construction bill to 1½ billion but delayed a final vote on the measure until tomorrow.

Rep. McConnell (R.-Pa.), who asked for the cut, said it would help the bill's chances in view of the current talk of economy in Congess.

The cut was made by a 23-3 vote.

Rep. Metcalf (D.-Mont.) called it "an attempt to get a bipartisan bill that would completely meet with the President's approval, and we expect the President's support because of that."

Ahead of the committee meeting chairman Barden (D.-N. C.) had said a final vote today was "a possibility."

Rep. Kelley (D.-Pa.), whose name the measure carries, had said he expected committee approval of the bill "as it is now"—meaning without any such cut as was actually made.

Diem to Meet Ike

Washington, May 8 (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Viet Nam, who won a battle of survival for his country in the last three years, arrives today to receive a personal welcome from President Eisenhower at National Airport. The 57-year-old leader, a political exile in this country until four years ago, was the first Asian chief of state to be so honored by the American President. Only once before has Eisenhower gone personally to the airport to greet a state guest. That was when King Saud of Saudi Arabia flew in earlier this year.

Kilmer Closing Again

Camp Kilmer, N. J., May 8 (AP)—This former army camp is slated to lapse back into obscurity tomorrow after a brief return to glory late last year when it became the threshold to freedom for thousands of Hungarian refugees. The last busload will leave the reception center after a brief ceremony. A group from President Eisenhower's committee on refugee relief will join with Brig. Gen. Sidney C. Wooten in the ceremony. All in all, over 25,000 refugees have passed through the camp to new homes in this country.

Tanker Plane Crashes

Tokyo, May 8 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force tanker plane crashed into the Pacific 100 miles southwest of Tokyo today. The air force said two crewmen were saved and six are missing. The known survivors are T/Sgt. Cyril G. Hopkins, whose wife and children live in Japan, and Airman 2/C James Marlin McNeil of (4656 Harvey Road) San Diego, Calif. Both were reported in good condition. They parachuted into Suruga Bay before the big four-engine KB50 went down and were picked up by Japanese fishing boats.

Would a can of soup cost less if it weren't advertised?

It is almost a certainty that any brand of soup would cost you more if it were not advertised. Soup manufacturers, like almost all companies, develop through advertising a larger volume of sales, and thus cut the cost per unit through mass production.

Actually, the cost of advertising is a very small part of the cost of a unit of merchandise. On a well-known brand of canned soup, for example, it is less than a cent a can; yet that brand costs no more than any other.

Advertising—like the advertising you see in this newspaper—has helped to bring Americans the highest standard of living in the world. You are the one who profits most from the good job advertising does so well.

New Term Expected

Bogota, Colombia, May 8 (AP)—President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla's hand-picked constituent Assembly was slated to give him four more years in office today without an election despite continuing demonstrations and strikes idling some 30,000 persons in Bogota.

The 90-member Assembly already has suspended articles of the Constitution preventing a president from succeeding himself. Some of the president's conservative followers are divided on the issue, but the walkout of 20 Assembly members last night was not expected to stall the session today to name him for a 1958-62 presidential term.

Woodstock, May 8—Word has been received by Mrs. Herbert H. Cutler, chairman of the horse show committee of the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., which plans its eleventh annual Horse Show Sunday, June 16, that one of the leading horsemen in the United States will act as master of ceremonies for the event.

Theodore E. Buell of New York city, for the past 10 years executive secretary of the American Horse Shows Association, will handle the microphone at the forthcoming show, according to Mrs. Cutler. This is Mr. Buell's first official appearance in connection with the Woodstock show although some years ago he was a guest at one of the club's regular business meetings.

Mrs. Cutler, who is one of the recognized judges of the American Horse Show Association and annually officiates at several large shows outside this district, was able to secure the services of Mr. Buell for the Woodstock Club, with which she has been connected for many years. Mr. Buell will arrive in Poughkeepsie Saturday evening and add his authoritive comments and explanations to the various events offered at the annual Woodstock show.

Known across the country as "Mr. Horse Show" due to his close full-time connection with the sport, Mr. Buell, even before affiliating with AHSA, served as MC at shows on free weekends. He has handled the microphone at shows from Boston to Miami, and to Seattle, but now confines his appearances to about a dozen weekends. A native of Hartford, Conn., Mr. Buell long has been concerned with the organization end of the sport, in addition to being an active rider himself.

He organized the first state association of horse shows in the country, then served as secretary of the New England Horsemen's Council. In 1942, he was elected an honorary member of the National Block & Bridle Club, student livestock group, and since then has been elected to numerous national breeding associations.

Mr. Buell will come to Woodstock following his appearance on a judging school program sponsored by the American Walking Horse Exhibitors' Association at Washington, and on the day after Woodstock's show, leaves for Detroit where he will officiate at the Well-known Grosse Pointe Horse Show, a five-day event with $1,000 stakes in several divisions.

In handling the microphone, the AHSA executive will explain some of the technicalities of the sport which are not generally known to the public. It will also be his task to keep the show on schedule, getting entries into the ring promptly for judging by well-known officials selected by Mrs. Cutler's committee.

Three Are Hurt In Two Mishaps

Three persons were injured—none seriously—in two traffic mishaps reported by local police Tuesday.

One of the mishaps, involving two automobiles and two trucks, were reported at 12:14 p. m. at Ferry street and Hasbrouck avenue.

Officers Harold DeGraff and Thomas McGrane reported a 1956 sedan, operated by Florence Agnes Nettleton, 67, of 51 West O'Reilly street, owned by Felix Nettleton, same address, headed northeast on Ferry street, went out of control.

Others Involved

Also involved, the report said, were: A 1953 panel truck, parked at the curb by Arthur Loeb, of 163 Bruyn avenue, owned by the Singer Sewing Machine Co., 36 Euclid street, Rochester; a 1950 truck, double parked on Ferry street by John Ziros Jr., 46, of 3 Lindsley avenue, owned by the Forst Packing Co., 100-104 Abeel street, and a 1937 country sedan, owned and parked at the curb by Jacob Senor, 44, of 35 Grove street.

Police reported Mrs. Nettleton suffered a bruised left knee, and Mr. Ziros, a back injury and injury to both knees, suffered when he was pinned between the sewing machine company truck and the Forst truck while unloading merchandise. He was X-rayed at Benedictine Hospital and was to be treated by a physician, the report said.

The officers reported the Nettleton vehicle went out of control and struck a utility pole. It then struck the sewing machine company truck, which was forced into the Senor car and the Forst truck.

Towed From Scene

Police reported the Nettleton car, towed from the scene, sustained damage to the complete front end, and radiator; the sewing machine company truck was damaged on the rear bumper and right front fender; the Forst truck on the left taillight and the license plate was broken off its bracket.

A report at 8:45 p. m. said a 1952 sedan, owned and operated by Alice M. Kowalski, 38, of 114-B Miller's lane, traveling north on North Front street, struck a pedestrian, Mrs. Elizabeth Denton, 39, of 65 Hurley avenue, near Joy's lane and Washington avenue.

Mrs. Denton was to be examined by a physician the report said. Officers Leonard Ellsworth and William Slover investigated.
